COL. BROMWELL KILLS HIMSELF

DIES IN CHAIR WITH BULLET IN HIS HEART

His Body Found This Morning in the Elks' Club With Revolver on the Floor.

Colonel Louis L. Bromwell, one of the oldest residents of Oakland and for many years one of the leading Republicans of the State, ended his life some hour last night in his quarters at the Elk Club in this city. He had used a revolver for the purpose, the bullet piercing his heart.

The tragedy was not known until this afternoon, shortly after 1 o'clock. For some time past the colonel has been residing at the club, his rooms being on the third floor. Up to the hour mentioned the door had not been opened, not even after knocks had been given it by members of the organization and personal friends of the deceased.

A ladder was then procured and on looking over the transom the colonel was seen by personal friends, among them Captain Freeman, lying on the couch in his sleeping apartment.

BULLET IN HIS HEART.

A knock was again gee on the door without the effect of arousing the apparent sleeper. The door was then unlocked and several personal friends entered the room only to find lying beside the Colonel a revolver with one empty chamber. There was a ghastly wound over the region of the heart, showing that the missing bullet had found lodgement in that section.

Dr. C. L. Tisdale, who is also a member of the Oakland lodge of Elks, was telegraphed for and came immediately from his office. He examined the remains and found that death had taken place. The body at the time was cold, showing that the fatal shot must have been fired some hours previously. The remains were then born to the morgue where an inquest will be held at a date not yet specified.

The awful discovery of the tragedy caused consternation among the members of the lodge and the news spread through town with wonderful rapidity.

NO MOTIVE LONG.

So far as any person who has been seen to the present time, is aware, no reason can be assigned for the tragic ending of the life of Colonel Bromwell. A search in his apartments failed to discover any note or article of any kind that would tend to show what had prompted him in this sudden ending of his career.

There is an opinion among those who are best informed on the matter, that the act was unpremeditated and was inspired by a sudden and uncontrollable physical pain which Colonel Bromwell must have suffered after he had retired for the night or rather after he had decided that he would try and find rest upon his couch.

WAS NOT FEELING WELL.

It is known that Colonel Bromwell was not feeling well all day yesterday. While he has made the club his home he has been one of the liveliest and gayest and most congenial members of that organization. Although over sixty years of age he was a good fellow among the members of the organization, who courted his company as he courted theirs.

For some time many of these members have been wont to meet on Sunday mornings in the Colonel's rooms and talk over the events of the week and those which might be encountered in the week to follow.

Yesterday morning there was no such gathering for the reason that Colonel Bromwell was indisposed, and the door of the room which, instead of extending open hospitality, was to a certain degree barred against even the nearest of his friends.

This was because the Colonel had on Saturday night and very early yesterday morning indicated to the members of the house committee and the custodian, Charles Husband, that he was suffering from a severe cold and that it was his purpose to try to head it off by remaining under cover durin the day.

As a consequence when knocks came to the door no attention was paid them by the Colonel.

So far as known the last member of the order who is known to have seen the deceased alive was Moses P. O'Brien, formerly private secretary to Judge Melvin, when the latter was Grand Exalted Ruler of the B. P. O. E.

O'Brien was one of the Colclosest friends, and was one of the leaders in the Sunday morning meetings in Colonel Bromwell's rooms above referred to.

Last night shortly after six o'clock, O'Brien found Colonel Bromwell's door unlocked and entered and had a pleasant conversation with him, extending over a number of minutes. There was nothing in the Colonel's demeanor, O'Brien says, to indicate that he contemplated his tragic end. He complained, however, of suffering from a severe cold, but declared at the same time that he would be all right in a day or two. O'Brien left, promising that he to call in again on his way to his own room, which is on the floor above that of the Colonel's at the club, when he should return from a business engagement later at night.

O'Brien did not reach his own quarters until near midnight and concluded that he did not want to disturb Col. Bromwell, and accordingly retired without ascertaining his condition.

This morning O'Brien, because of an early engagement, did not live up to his daily custom of making a morning call on Col. Bromwell and accordingly did not learn of the tragedy until this afternoon. About 9 o'clock last night one of the attendants of the club waited on the Colonel with a draught, which had been ordered by the physician as a remedy for his cold. The medicine was left in the apartment and the attendant retired.

At this writing the widow of the deceased has not been notified of the sad ending of her husband because few of the members of the lodge have any inclination to be the bearer of such heartbreaking tidings.

While the Colonel has made his home at the Elks' Club he has also had for a number of years, a well-established home in this city at the corner of Madison and Ninth streets, where his wife still abides.

In conversation with M. P. O'Brien, referred to, yesterday the Colonel stated he thought of passing the evening at home because he hadn't been there for a short time and that he felt he might experience some relief with attendance which he might receive there.

Why this intent was not carried into effect will never be known.

HIS FAMILY.

Col. Bromwell is survived by, not only his wife, but by a son and daughter. The son is grown to manhood and is engaged in business in San Francisco. The daughter was formerly Mrs. Selby Martin, widow of the late deceased Selby Martin, who for a number of years was the cashier of the Union Savings Bank before that organization was mover from the corner of Ninth street and Broadway.

After Mr. Martin's death, which took place about eight years ago, Mrs. Martin was married to a Mr. Bradley, and lived with him for a few years. A divorce ensued and Mrs. Martin was allowed by the court to assume the name she had borne under her first husband. Mrs. Martin is now a resident of Alameda.

IN INSURANCE BUSINESS.

Col. Bromwell, before coming to this city, was a resident of Cincinnati, Ohio. After coming here he entered the insurance business and for a number of years was connected with some of the most thoroughly established agencies in that line of business in San Francisco. When he was in active politics in this city and county there was no campaign in which he was not prominently identified with the Republican party, for the success of which he worked with a zealousness that was productive of wonderful results.

Colonel Bromwell was one of the earliest and most patriotic members of what was then known as the Oakland Republican Alliance, an organization which is still extant and which makes it a point to take part in all national Republican campaigns when called together by its commanding officer.

Personally, Colonel Bromwell was a very popular gentleman. He was acquainted with thousands of people, not only in this city ubt throughout California and was generally appreciated in business and fraternal circles whenever he appeared amon gthem.

In business life, the last connection which the Colonel had with the insurance business, was as the Western agent of the Milwaukee Mechanics' Insurance Company.

At 3:30 this afternoon a committee of Elks decided to request Percy Black, a member of the well known law firm of Reed, Black & Reed, to go to the residence of Mrs. Bromwell and inform her in as tender any sympathetic manner as possible of the death of her husband.

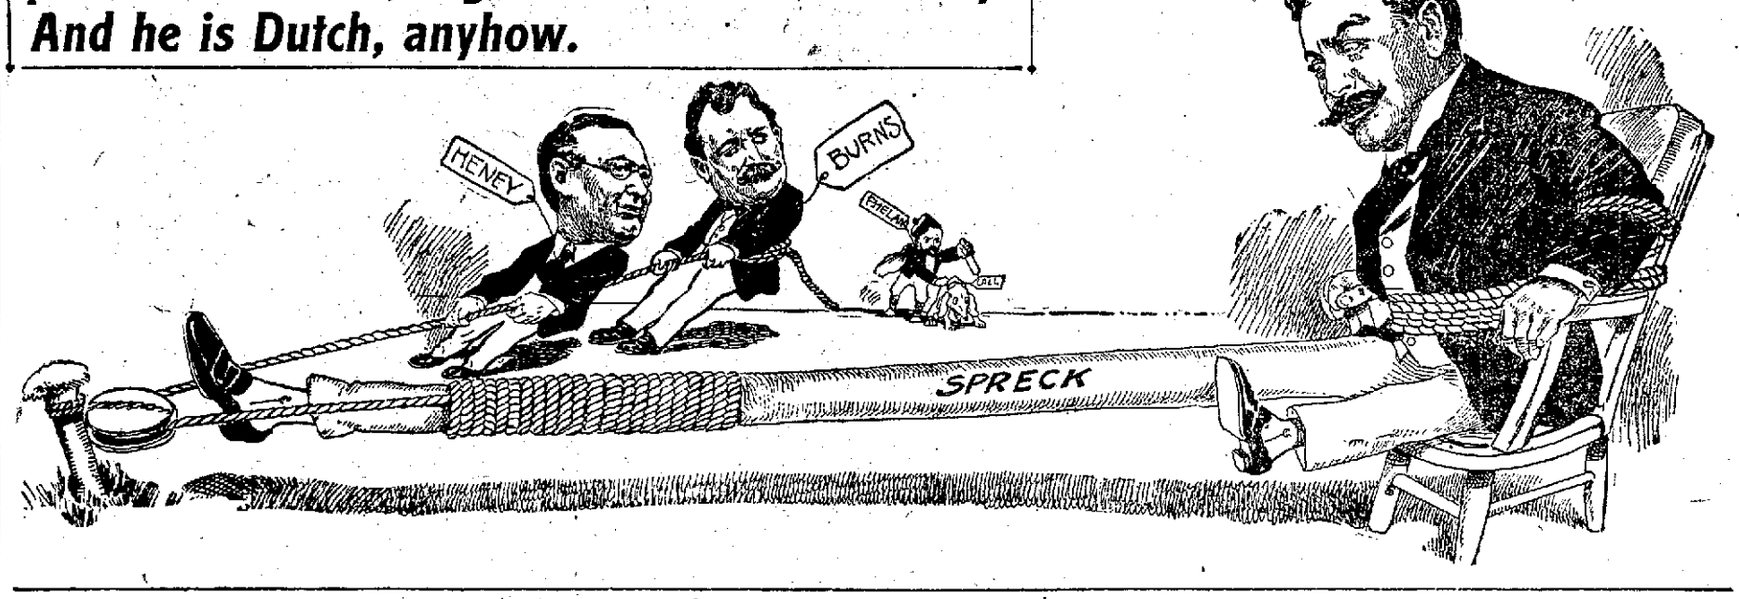

The duty, of course, was not a pleasant one, but as it had to be done it was better it should be done by a personal friend of Mrs. Bromwell and that is a position which Mr. Black has held for a number of years, as also Mrs. Bromwell's family.

He has also served in the position of legal adviser of the late Colonel and his wife.

Regardless of the fact that Mr. Black performed the unpleasant duty in a very sympathetic manner, the news, as was expected, had an overpowering effect upon the widow of the deceased.

The funeral will, of course, be under the auspices of Oakland Lodge, No. 171, B. P. O. E., but the date has not yet been decided upon.

HENEY and BURNS (in chorus): Pull, brothers, pull! He's standing the strain beautifully. And he is Dutch, anyhow.

WOMAN WHO REJECTED LINCOLN'S SUIT IS DEAD

SIOUX CITY, Iowa, Jan. 27. — Mrs. Mary Frances Reilly, aged eighty-three, whose family for a generation was prominent in Eastern Iowa and Central Illinois, died here yesterday at the home of her daughter. As Miss Mary Sullivan of Quincy, Ill., she, in 1839, was wooed, it is said, by Abraham Lincoln, whom she rejected. She first met Lincoln at Quincy, when he came to that city from Rushville when he was attending court.

GLADYS IS NOW THE COUNTESS SZECHENYI

Vast Crowd Throngs Street During Wedding Ceremony.

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Gladys Vanderbilt, daughter of Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, was married to Count Laszlo Szechenyi, a young Hungarian nobleman, in the Fifth avenue home of Mrs. Vanderbilt, at noon today. The wedding was probably the most brilliant that has taken place in this city for several years. Although the number of guests was limited to 350, mainly relatives and immediate friends of the two families, there was included Baron Hengelmuller Von Hengervar, the Austrian ambassador to the United States; James Bryce, the British ambassador, and several of the prominent members of New York society.

Outside of the Vanderbilt home, a great crowd of the curious public gathered, hoping for a glimpse of the count and his bride and watching the arrival of the guests. There was no disorder among this crowd for the streets were patrolled and kept clear by a force of nearly a hundred policemen.

POLICE LINES DRAWN.

Police lines were drawn across Fifty-seventh and Fifty-eighth street between which two streets the house stands, and uninvited public were not permitted on the Fifth avenue sidewalk in front of the house. They gathered in large numbers in the square in front of the Plaza Hotel, but their curiosity was satisfied only by witnessing the arrival of the count and guests.

Promptly at noon the wedding ceremony was performed in a large drawing-room on the Fifth avenue side of the house in which a bower of palms and arbor of orchids were constructed.

Beneath the arbor a temporary altar was erected, and in front of this the ceremony was performed by Monsignor M. J. Lavelle, rector of St. Patrick's cathedral.

The bride was escorted by her elder brother, Cornelius Vanderbilt, down the aisle, bordered with palms entwined with

PROSECUTION GIVES UP HOPE OF FINDING LATHAN

Star Witness Still Absent and Ruef Declares Burns Knows Where He Is, or Ought To.

(SPECIAL TO THE TRIBUNE.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27.—The prosecution this morning withdrew its application in Judge Lawlor's court for the conditional examination of the witness, Alexander Lathan, which was made on Saturday. The reason given by Assistant District Attorney O'Gara was that there was no probability of their being able to locate the missing witness.

When the case was called at 10 o'clock this morning the motion for withdrawing of the application was made. It seemed to come as a surprise to Ruef, who had been prepared to oppose it. Ruef still attributes the disappearance of Lathan to the sharp practice of the prosecution. He claims that it would have been utterly impossible for him to have succeeded in influencing Lathan in any way, and claims that even now Burns knows where the missing witness is, or if he does not know he ought to know.

"It is not conceivable that the prosecution does not know where Lathan is," said Ruef this morning. "when after my encounter with him in the corridor of this court last week Burns put three men on his trail. He must know where he is, and if he doesn't it must be that Lathan has given them all the slip."

District Attorney Langdon has nothing further to say about the disappearance, other than that he does not now believe Lathan can be located. Chief of Police Biggy, who is said to have been looking for the star witness, said this morning that his men had not succeeded in getting trace of him. He would not affirm or deny whether he is now working on the case, but it is believed he is assisting Burns.

FLEE IN NIGHT ON FIRE ESCAPE

Lodgers Clamber Down Side of Hotel in Scanty Attire When Blaze Starts.

(Special to The Tribune.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27. — A fire in the rear of the hotel at 2344 Filbert street at 2:12 this morning, nearly destroyed the building and forced the twelve lodgers to flee for their lives down the fire escapes.

The alarm was turned in by Policeman Fitzpatrick, who observed flames shooting from the neighborhood of the kitchen. On the arrival of the department, the entire rear of the building was in a blaze and the officer hastened through to arouse the occupants, who fled, dressed as they were, to the street.

None was injured and half an hour's work put out the blaze. The loss is estimated at $2000.

CALHOUN WANTS IMMEDIATE TRIAL

(SPECIAL TO THE TRIBUNE.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27.—Attorney Stanley Moore, representing Patrick Calhoun, president of the United Railroads, announced to the court this morning that his client had returned to this city and stood ready for trial.

He again protested against the attitude of the prosecution in continually postponing the case against the protest of the defense and the desire of Mr. Calhoun for a speedy and early hearing.

Judge Lawlor refused to have the matter further discussed, owing to the fact that the case was not on the calendar for trial, and he so informed Mr. Moore.

"Well, then, your honor, I desire to state that we will speak of the matter tomorrow, when the case will be on the calendar for trial, and we desire some kind of an answer."

GLASS CASE HELD UP TILL TUESDAY; DEFENDANT SICK

(Special to The Tribune.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27.—When the case of Louis Glass was called in Judge Lawlor's court this morning, Attorney Coogan, representing the defendant, answered ready. But Glass was not present in the court room. The deputy sheriff announced that the defendant was better, but not yet able to leave the hospital. He is still suffering from a severe cold and fever.

For this reason the hearing was continued until Tuesday, February 4.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27. — An application was made in the Supreme Court this morning for a writ of habeas corpus for the release on bail of Louis Gass, who was convicted by a jury in Judge Lawor's court some months ago.

NEW TELLERS ON DUTY IN THE UNION NATIONAL BANK

Policy of Management Is to Replace All the Old Employes of That Institution With New Men.

In pursuance of their adopted policy, the new officials of the Union National Bank are replacing the old employes. Today George S. Lackie began his duties as paying teller, succeeding H. E. York, who recently resigned. Frank McBurney, formerly of the Central Trust Company in San Francisco, is the new receiving teller, and was on duty this morning.

"These changes," said President De Fremery, "are in line with the policy which we adopted to have a new staff of men in this bank. We have been making the changes from time to time as fast as possible."

George S. Lackie has many friends in Oakland made during a long career in banking work. For eight years he was with the California Bank, rising from paying teller to assistant cashier. He has lived in Oakland for about sixteen years.

Frank McBurney the new receiving teller of the Union National Bank was in San Francisco but has come to Oakland with his family and selected a home in Piedmont. He was for years head bookkeeper and assistant teller with the Central Trust Company of San Francisco. For many years he was vice-president of the Bank Clerks' Association of that city.

Mr. McBurney has a large acquaintance among Oakland business men and well rated in the commercial life of the city he has just left.

THAW DEFENSE ENDS TESTIMONY AND ASKS HYPOTHETICAL QUESTION

BRITISH PHYSICIAN SAYS DEFENDANT WAS INSANE

Foreign Witnesses Tell of Irrational Acts of Prisoner.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

NEW YORK, Jar. 27.—The defense in the Thaw case completed this morning the introduction of all its testimony and shortly before the noon recess Attorney Littleton, chief counsel for the defendant, began to read a long and carefully prepared hypothetical question to the three alienists engaged to testify in Harry Thaw's behalf.

The question covered all the testimony in the case and before being read had been submitted to District Attorney Jerome for any objection the prosecution had to offer Only slight changes resulted As the testimony in the present hearing has differed largely from that of the first trial, so the hypothetical question differed from the one propounded last year by Attorney Delmas The evidence to irrational acts or manner, from infancy to the homicide, was given precedence over every other phase of the testimony

PHYSICIAN CALLED.

Dr Charles Francis Bingaman, the Thaw family physician of Pittsburg, was put on the witness stand when court opened today for the beginning of the fourth week of the second trial of Harry K Thaw, for the killing of Stanford White Dr. Bingman told of the early symptoms of nervousness in Thaw, saying he was first called to attend the boy when he was three years of age. At that time his nervousness often bordered on convulsions The attacks usually followed various children's diseases Thaw slept badly as a child, requiring a relay of nurses most of the time

Dr Bingaman said that in the fall of 1903 he was called to attend Harry Thaw Pittsburg and treated him for nervousness and melancholy.

This was after Thaw's first trip abroad with Evelyn Nesbit. The witness saw Thaw several times in the Tombs after his arrest and the defendant always referred to the Madison Square Garden affair as "the act of providence" Thaw's act and appearance in the prison impressed the witness as irrational.

PRAISED BINGAMAN.

It was of Dr Bingaman that Jerome said at the last trial when Thaw's mental condition was under investigation. "I had rather had the testimony of an old practitioner like this than all the experts you could put upon the stand."

The prosecutor's cross examination today was very brief and courteous.

Following Dr. Bingaman came the first of the foreign witnesses, Dr. Sydney Russell Wells of London, who was called to attend Thaw in the English capital in the early part of 1899

"Mr. Thaw was in a very nervous condition," said Dr. Wells "His pulse was extremely rapid and he complained of pains in the head I diagnosed his case as one of mental disturbance."

On one of his visits to the defendant, witness said, he found his patient in a highly excitable state, despite the fact that his temperature was only 99 degrees. He feared that he might harm himself. Thaw did not respond to treatment, even opiates failing and Dr. Wells said he decided to send the young man to the Devonshire nursing Association's Hospital. On a visit he found Thaw dancing around his room like a mad man. He reported his case at the hospital as automania.

Next came Dr Maurice Guaja of Paris, who gave his testimony through the official court interpreter He attended Thaw in Paris in the spring of 1904, in which he attempted suicide by swallowing laudanum. Dr Guaja described Thaw's condition, but said he had not diagnosed it as laudanum poisoning At first he thought it was ptomaine poisoning Littleton here announced that with the exception of the testimony of the witnesses who had just testified the hypothetical question for the experts was completed.

Dr. Smith Ely Jelliffe of Columbia University was sworn and it was agreed that the question should be read to him and Dr. Charles G Wagner of Binghamton and Dr. Evans of Morris Plains, N. J. at the same time

Mr Littleton began to read the question to the experts and to the jury at 12:30 p. m. He had read for ten minutes only when recess was ordered

DEMANDED ICE.

"Mr. Thaw at the hospital had a perfectly enormous room," continued Dr. Wells, "but he complained that he did not have room to breathe He also complained of the terrific heat and demanded that twenty thousand tons of ice be placed in the room He did not like the nurse assigned to him and wanted me to employ a whole staff of nurses so he might find the one he liked When he was in the bed the patient's eyes glared into vacancy The acute attack at the hospital continued six days. He had no fever at any time His talk was largely incoherent There was no evidence of alcoholism."

"During your entire attendance on Mr. Thaw in 1899, Doctor, what conclusion did you report?" asked Littleton.

"I diagnosed his case as acute recurrent insanity."

Dr Wells said he saw Thaw in 1901, 1902 and in 1903 or 1904 He treated him at these times, but there were no acute symptoms as in 1899

LITTLE EXPERIENCE.

On cross-examination by Jerome, Dr Wells said that at the time he treated Thaw in 1899 he had made no particular study of mental diseases and had had but little experience along that line The witness said Thaw remembered him and the things that happened during his outbreak, and was anxious to apologize especially to a nurse whom he felt he had offended.

Miss Lillian T. MacBride, of London, a professional nurse as she described herself, followed Dr. Wells She was called in to attend Thaw as nurse in his room in London in July, 1899 Thaw was very restless and his talk was incoherent, the expression on his face was wild, and although he had no fever he continually complained of the frightful heat There was evidences of alcoholism His acts and appearance impressed the witness as irrational.

The third of the foreign witnesses to be called was Dr. Frederick J. Burton-Browne of London, formerly of the India Service, and for a time a practicing physician in Rome. Dr. Burton-Browne referred to himself as a "medical man," rather than a doctor It was in March, 1902, that the witness was called to attend Thaw in Rome. He diagnosed the case as one of simple or mild mania.

There was no trace of alcoholism. District Attorney Jerome on cross examination asked

"How long did Thaw's mania last?"

"About thirty-six hours."

"That's all."

THAW AS HE ENTERS COURT.

Each day the prisoner comes from his cell carrying his box of papers relating to the case.

$5,000,000 TO IMPROVE S. F. STREET RAILWAY

Patrick Calhoun, Back From East, Asks for Immediate Hearing of Charges Against Him.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan 27.—Patrick Calhoun, accompanied by Mrs. Calhoun and his niece, have arrived in the city. Mr Calhoun's return means the beginning of an expenditure of $5,000,000 for street railway improvements. Among these is the construction of a power plant for the operation of the company's entire system, the reconstruction of tracks and the general betterment of the service.

Calhoun confirmed the report that he had negotiated the sale of $8,500,000 worth of the company's preferred stock, which, with the $1,500,000 already disposed of, will make $5,000,000 at once available.

"This will mean," he said, "$5,000,000 in cash to take up our floating indebtedness and to improve the system

MONEY FOR WEST.

"The impression prevails in the East that San Francisco is not likely to be seriously affected by the present financial stringency While in times like the present money cannot be had for speculative building, there is plenty of it for this city, which needs and must have buildings at once The erection of these buildings will make work for mechanics and redound to the prosperity of all I think it is an excellent thing for San Francisco that such an opinion obtains in the financial centers of the East.

"There is no set of men America that has so firm a confidence in the future greatness and prosperity of San Francisco as the men who are associated with me in the control of the United Railroads, and they have shown this by backing their confidence with their dollars from the day of the fire, when a $75,000 contribution was raised, until the present, when they are sending millions here for investment"

TO HASTEN TRIAL.

Calhoun said that he had returned for the purpose of hastening his trial, and would ask that it might take place as soon as possible

"I claim the right," said he, "to defend myself against the charges that have been brought against me, and I will ask that this opportunity be given me without delay."

Calhoun was met at the Oakland Mole by Thornwell Mullally William M. Abbott and J D Stetter, while his family awaited him at the Ferry Building.

TRUTH TOLD ABOUT ACCIDENT.

A careless child caused the death of nearly two hundred people at Boyertown, Pa., last week and a careless correspondent did incalculable damage by sending out to the newspapers the story that the fire was caused by the "explosion" of a moving-picture machine. The child upset a row of kerosene lamps on the stage while trying to pull the curtain aside to learn the cause of the hissing, which came from a broken needle-valve on a tank of hydrogen used in operating the stereopticon with calcium light. There was no moving-picture machine in the building. An illustrated lecture was being given with old-fashioned glass lantern slides, but the damage was done irreparably when the report was printed that an explosion of a film machine caused the calamity. The result has been to keep hundreds of thousands of admirers of the moving pictures away from the nickeldromes and halls in which they had been enjoying the innocent pleasure of watching the "motion pictures" No amount of publicity can now overcome the damage which has been done to this popular form of entertainment.—Newark Sunday Call. GLADYS VANDERBILT, NOW COUNTESS SZECHNYI

GORGEOUS WEDDING AT MOTHER'S RESIDENCE

a great abundance of orchids at the altar.

The count was attended by his brother, Count Denis Szechenyi. The ceremony of giving the bride away was performed by Cornelius Vanderbilt.

ACCOMPANIED BY BROTHER.

Miss Vanderbilt was accompanied to the altar by her elder brother, Cornelius Vanderbilt, and the Count was accompanied by his best man, Count Anton Sigray.

The wedding ceremony was performed by the Rev M. G. Lavelle, pastor of St. Patrick's Cathedral, wearing purple silk vestments and lace. He was assisted by the Rev. John Verne. The wedding chorus from Gauls Cantata "Ruth" was sung by thirty boys of the St. Patrick's choir, attired in surplices and red cassocks, accompanied by the organ and assisted by the Cathedral quartet.

BRIDE'S GOWN.

The gown worn by the bride was of ivory satin with embroidery, point lace and garlands of orange blossoms. Her veil was of point lace caught with sprays of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of orchids and gardenias. The bridesmaids were Miss Ruth Vanderbilt Twombley, her cousin, and Miss Dorothy Whitney, daughter of William C. Whitney. The bride was also attended by her little niece, Miss Flora Payne Whitney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney.

Among the ushers were Count Stefan Szchenyi and Count Paul Esterhazy. Among the guests were Baron Hengelmuller Von Hengervar, the Austrian ambassador to the United States, and his wife and Alfred and Reginald Vanderbilt, brothers of the bride

STREETS CROWDED.

Many of the most prominent members of New York society were among the guests, while outside the Vandelbilt residence a great crowd of the curious public thronged the sidewalk and street.

Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served, the guests being distributed at various tables throughout the house.

All the rooms were beautifully decorated with palms and orchids. This afternoon, the Count and Countess Szechenyi will go to Newport to remain for a week at the home of Reginald Vanderbilt.

FAMILY ESCAPES FROM BURNING BUNGALOW

Mrs. L. B. Merritt, Children and Guests Almost Caught in Flames.

Mrs L. B Merritt, her two children, and a friend, Mrs. Uhlee, of New York, had a very narrow escape from being burned to death early Saturday morning Mrs Merritt was awakened by the smell of smoke in her bungalow at Camp Meeker. By the time she discovered that the place was on fire the flames had made such headway that it was only by the closest margin that she and two children, eleven and fourteen years of age, and her guest escaped from the house.

The bungalow, which was recently completed was destroyed, together with all the clothing and jewelry of those occupying it. Mrs. Merritt has been living in Camp Meeker for about a year. Only a few weeks ago her new bungalow, which was noted in that section for its completeness and artistic furnishing, was completed. The nearest neighbor was at least half a mile away.

At the time the fire broke out there was a heavy rainstorm, to which fact Mrs. Merritt attributes their escape with their lives.

A belated traveler passing noticed the flames and by discharging his revolver, aroused the other cottagers in the place. It was fully twenty minutes, however, before anyone reached the house. They found Mrs Merritt and her children and her guest in the rain. The party went to a friend's house.

Mrs. Merritt is well known in Oakland. She was Miss Brownie Sedgewick before her marriage and is a sister of Mrs Tom Dargie.

ATHENIAN CHIRUPS PROVES ROUSING SUCCESS

Members Enjoy Merry Jinks and Gather About Festive Board.

The banquet and "chirups" of the Athenian Club was pronounced by the pioneer members as one of the most notable social functions ever given in the history of the body. Jollity and fun reigned supreme for five long hours, and all thoughts of care and worry were banished to the abyss of oblivion Each one came for a good time and none were disappointed.

Robert Newell was the Archon, the lord of misrule, for the evening The musical exercises were directed by Professor Crandall, assisted by members of the Orpheus Club. About 180 sat down to dinner, all of them club members save about twenty-five invited guests Among the men, who assisted in making the affair such a success, were Edward W. Engs, chairman of the house committee, and Thomas Carneal, of the board of directors The papers read were of the highest average ever read at a similar gathering, and the musical program was a delight. Besides the singing by the Orpheus quartet, Vale Bakewell sang "Noel" in his best form and Harry Melvin and Dick Hotaling sang an operatic seection in splendid style. Judge Melvin seasoned his paper, with some fine bits of singing

Papers were read by Edward W. Engs W F Kelly, Joseph E Baker Charles Field, and Richard oHtaling the baby member of the club Mr. Engs gave the "Rhyme of the Ancient Kicks, the subject being Eph Mathews, who acknowledged the ——, and made a clever little speech, taking it all anad expressing his satisfaction at the way the ancient traditions of the club had been revived

Mr. Kelly's paper was a surprise and a treat. It was in verse in the style of Bobby Burns, and was a clever mosaic of hits at club members and quotations from the Scottish Bard.

Mr. Baker discussed "Jags and Tight Wads" from a Bohemian standpoint, and is said to have increased the thirst of the gathering.

Charley Field rambled in the domain of fake history as he discovered it in the Bancroft library, tracing the origin of the Athenian Club to the impecunious habitues of a three-for-two eating joint. Established on Washington street by a scheif's cook, who came around the Horn in 1852, and started an Athenian's restaurant.

Mr. Hotaling closed the proceedings and the alimentary canal with an interesting, if somewhat unsanitary, discussion of the theory of choride of sodium being a panacea for race bulede.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 27—United States Judge Wolborn today dismissed the complaint of Miller & Lux against the East Side Canal and Irrigation Company for alleged illegal use of the waters of the San Joaquin river in Merced county on account of lack of jurisdiction.

WILKINS' TRIAL IS SET FOR SECOND OF MARCH

Attorney of Silent Prisoner, Charged With Cruel Murder, Withdraws Objections.

After having been in the county jail for more than two months, Mark E. Wilkins, who is accused of the murder of Mrs. V. Carmin, finally had his trial set today. Delay after delay has been interposed by his counsel, Hugh McIsaacs, whose consent today to the fixing of the date of the trial was the first occasion when no objection to proceeding was made by him. Judge Raker fixed March 2 as the day on which a beginning of the case will be made.

Wilkins was asked by the court if he waived the sixty days the law allows him to guarantee a speedy trial. On the advice of McIsaacs he said that he did. With the exception of the time when he pleaded not guilty this is the only occasion on which he has opened his mouth in court.

He is the most silent prisoner that has ever occupied the county jail, according to his jailers He speaks to no one, and it is not because he is morose, for when he is spoken to he answers cheerfully enough. But he carries on no conservation. "He hasn't spoken two words to me since he's been in jail," said Jailer Joseph Moffitt today.

MITCHELL AGAINST A SYMPATHETIC STRIKE

President of Miners' Union Says There's Nothing In It—To Retire in April.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 27.—President Mitchell announced to the convention of the United Mine Workers of America that he did not desire to hold any office in the organization after his retirement as president on April 1. This will stop a movement to have him placed at the head of an advisory board.

Mitchell declared himself to be opposed to sympathetic strikes.

"I have watched labor troubles and conditions as closely as any man," he said, "and I have not seen any benefit accrue from sympathetic strikes. Should the Western Federation of Miners ask us to go on a strike to aid their strike, we would ask naturally, 'What will we get out of it? What good will accrue to us?' I do not see that it would do us any good to have the metaliferous miners on a strike if we coal miners were out on a strike. Coal can be mined when gold miners are not working, but gold cannot be mined if there is no coal."

IN EXTREME CASES ONLY.

Mr. Mitchell admitted that in extreme cases sympathetic strikes would very materially assist in the accomplishment of labor purposes and in such cases he would advocate it.

He thought closer relationship should exist between the mine workers and the Western Federation of Miners and suggested a commission to define what these relations should be. Mr. Mitchell urged the miners to continue the contract system.

D. A. Sullivan, secretary-treasurer of the Ohio miners and Alexander Howatt, president of the Kansas miners, were elected delegates to the International Mining Congress which meets at Paris.

W. D. Haywood, secretary-treasurer of the Western Federation of Miners, addressed the convention, referring feelingly to the appreciation of Moyer, Pettimone and himself to the labor element of the country, which had contributed $30,000 to their defense.

IOWAN EX-GOVERNOR'S HEALTH IS IMPROVING

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 27.—Ex-Governor Horace A. Boies of Iowa, who arrived in this city a day or two ago after having been taken seriously ill while en route here from his home, is improving. He is domiciled in a cottage at the beach and will return to Waterloo, Iowa, as soon as his health will permit.

STUDENT, STRUCK BY AOTO, DIES

Police Have Not Located Driver Responsible for Alva Gimbal's Death.

Alva Gimbal, a promising student of the high school of this city, who was run down by an auto driven by a person unknown shortly after midnight, Sunday, at the intersection of Thirty-seventh street and Telegraph avenue, died at Fabiola Hospital at 11 o'clock yesterday morning. After the accident the young man was taken to the home of his parents, 438 Thirty-seventh street, and, subsequently, to the hospital, where death was occasioned by hemorrhages.

Gimbal, at the time of the accident, had just alighted from an Oakland-bound car and as he walked around the car, he was struck, felled to the pavement and run over by the auto, which was running at a high rate of speed.

As soon as the chauffeur discovered that he had injured some person, he put on full speed and disappeared in the direction of Berkeley, regardless of the fact that people who had witnessed the running-down shouted to him to stop.

The police, both in this city and Berkeley, were notified of the accident and the flight of the chauffeur, but, up to last accounts, no trace of the inhuman individual had been found.

Young Gimbal regained consciousness but once, shortly after he had been taken to his home. He could give no information that would tend to identify the automobilits, except that he thought the machine was a Packard car.

Alba Gimbal was the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Gimbal, and was prominent in athletics. He was a member of the relay and track teams of the Oakland High and was recognized as a fast sprinter. According to Mr. Gimbal, his son had been attending a meeting of the high school club in Berkeley and was returning home. The club had been holding an election and young Gimbal had just been re-elected secretary.

SUPERVISOR BRIDGE FLAYS DR. TANNER; CALLS HIM BACKBITER AND SLANDERER

"Although a minister of the gospel Mr. Tanner has not hesitated to both backbite and slander. It is not only ungentlemanly and un-Christianlike to say that if I had my way I would root out the homes of my friends in the interests of the saloons, but it is an unmitigated falsehood and there are none who know me who do not know such statement to be false. My home is as dear to me as the home of any other person is dear to that person, and my home, together with the homes of my many friends will be out there when this preacher has gone to other parts."—Extract from statement from Supervisor Bridge this morning.

OFFICIAL REPLIES TO MINISTER'S CHARGES

Declares That Melrose Pastor is Not a Gentleman to Attack Him.

Supervisor Bridge is justly indignant over the attack made upon him from the pulpit of the Melrose Baptist Church last night by the Rev. Walter E. Tanner. The supervisor says that the statement of Dr. Tanner is entirely unfounded, and that the facts existing in the case show he has no business in having made such a statement, and there is no basis for the attack.

"Although a minister of the gospel," said the supervisor, "Mr. Tanner has not hesitated to both backbite and slander."

In the sermon reference was made to the matter:

ATTACKS BRIDGE.

"Supervisor Bridge has been nothing less than a Judas Iscariot to this community. He was elected by the better class of citizens in this community, and whenever a petition has been made for a saloon or roadhouse in this section, no matter how immoral, Supervisor Bridge, with one or two possible exceptions, has always voted to grant the license. If he had his way all the residents of this section would be moved out and the suburban homes converted into a long line of saloons."

BRIDGE'S REPLY.

In reply to this arraignment, Supervisor Bridge said this morning to a representative of this paper:

"The statement of the preacher is entirely unfounded. Most of the saloons were there before I became a member of the board of supervisors. Rev. Mr. Tanner does not take that matter into consideration. It is not true that I have voted to license houses, however immoral they may be. I have voted only on one or two occasions for new saloons in that district since I have been in office, and that was where the residents in the district demanded it—that is, where the applicant had a petition signed by a majority of the voters in the precinct who were in favor of having the license granted.

"As I say, the saloons already existed. I did not put them there There has not been an application for a saloon license which I voted for that did not have the requisite number of signatures.

NEVER VOTED FOR LICENSE.

"I want to say here that I have never voted to grant a saloon license to an immoral place. I would not vote for a man's petition which did not have the legal number of signatures. If it can be shown to me that a place is run in an immoral manner I will not vote for it, even though the applicant has the requisite number of signatures to his petition, no matter what their number may be.

"As far as the 'rotten rock' on the boulevard is concerned, the gentleman has taken up an unsupported statement as against the official report of the county surveyor of tests made of that same rock, and made, too, when thew ork was in progress. These reports show that the rock was above the specifications. This was shown by one of the most severe tests that the rock could be subject to.

RAPS THE CLERGYMAN.

"As regards that charge that, if I had my way, the residents of that section would be moved out and the suburban homes would be converted into a long line of saloons, I desire to say this: I have resided in Fruitvale for the last 34 years. Mr. Tanner can not say as much. I do know how long he has resided there, and more than that, I do not know how long he will remain there. People of his kind are, in the generality of cases, here today and gone tomorrow. He is supposed to preach morality and, one of the requirements of a man leading such a life is abstention from blackbiting and slandering his neighbors.

CALLS HIM SLANDERER.

"Although a minister of the gospel, Mr. Tanner has not hesitated to both backbite and slander. It is not only ungentlemanly and un-Christian like to say that if I had my way I would root out the homes of my friends in the interests of the saloons but it is an unmitigated falsehood and there are none who know me who do not know such to be the fact. My home is as dear to me as the home of any other person is dear to that person and my home, together with the homes of my many friends, will be out there when this preacher has gone to other parts."

REPRESENTATIVES STOP WORK TO CHEER TAFT

Secretary Says World's Greatest Development for Next 50 Years Will Be on Pacific Coast.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—The appearance of Secretary Taft before the house committee on industrial arts and expositions today, in support of an appropriation for the Seattle exposition in 1909, was the signal for a demonstration in his honor. The proceedings were interrupted when he entered the room by handclapping and thumping on the tables The Congressional delegation from Washington as well as the delegation of business men and officials from that State also were present and pleaded for an appropriation for the exposition. Secretary Taft thought that on account of the Philippine's finances that the government would not be able to make any exposition of considerable size, but he said the war department could have the Jamestown-Philippine exhibit sent to Seattle.

In an indirect way, Secretary Taft touched upon the relations between Japan and the United States. The exposition at Seattle, he thought would have a great effect oll over the Pacific. "There are critical developments," he declared, "in the matter of Orientals in this country and nothing will bring to the attention so much interest of this country in them and their interest in the United States than an exposition like this."

JAPANESE EXPOSITION.

He referred to the proposed exposition in Japan in 1912 and said the Japenese expect to make it one of the greatest in the world and he added. "I hope it will succeed." The Japanese, he said, were anxious that the United States shall be present at the exposition. The invitation had been accepted "I think the exposition will have an excellent effect," said Taft. "It will bring the countries on both sides of the Pacific together in a way probably that could not be accomplished in any other way."

Answering a question by Mr Miller, Kansas, Secretary Taft declared that it was more important for the United States to have expositions in the West than in the East because they have a direct bearing on our oriental trade than will be a substantial contribution to our progress in that direction. The next fifty years, he said, will see the greatest development in the world on the Pacific and, he added:

"It seems to me we ought to be in it."

Taft later visited Representative Payne of New York, Republican floor manager in the house, in the ways and means committee room, and secured thep rovision for two Philippines commissioners, Benitt Legarda and Pablo O Campo, in order that he might formally be welcomed by the house. Before he left the capitol the secretary was asked if he meant to wait and meet William Jennings Bryan.

"I don't expect to," he said. "I didn't even know he was to be at the capitol today."

Asked if he had any comment or statement to make respecting the Presidential situation, Mr Taft replied: "No."

Secretary Taft hastened from the capitol to the White House where he was due to present the Philippines commissioners to the President.

GRACE EATON HELD FOR TRIAL ON PERJURY CHARGE

GIRL'S CASE IS SET FOR MARCH

Judge Raker Declares Her Release Would Set Premium on Falsehoods.

Grace Eaton will have to stand trial for perjury, in spite of the attempt made by her to secure her exemption from trial on a writ of habeas corpus. Judge Raker today denied the application of her attorney, George J. McDonough, to secure her discharge, and set her trial for March 16.

Grace Eaton, who is the sweetheart of Percy Pembroke, convicted of highway robbery and given a sentence of ten years in San Quentin, testified at his trial that Sheriff Barnet had warned her against him, the purpose of her testimony being to show bias on the part of Barnet, one of the principal witnesses in the case She was accused of perjury while Pembroke's trial was still in progress. For nearly a year she has had this charge hanging over her head, although she has been at liberty on a bond of $2000

GROUND OF PLEA.

McDonough asked for her discharge on a writ of habeas corpus on the ground that the testimony she swore to was not material to the trial of Pembroke, but collateral. In denying the application for the writ Judge Raker said:

"It would place a premium on falsehood if one testifying to facts in the trial of a case were allowed to go without punishment after lying on the stand. The testimony given by Grace Eaton was material in the trial of Pembroke. It went strongly to the case If Sheriff Barnet's testimony had been discredited by her the jury might have refused to believe what he said and might have acquitted Pembroke."

PASTOR TALKS ON 'IDEAL CITY' IN PULPIT

Rev. W. E. Tanner Declares That Graft Exists in Bay Cities.

The subject of the Rev. Walter E. Tanner, pastor of the Melrose Baptist Church, last night was the "Ideal City," but in his address he spoke of everything that was not an ideal city and seemed to think that everything and everybody are hastening to an ignominous end.

Rev. Dr. Tanner said in part:

"The foundations of San Francisco and Oakland are lucre, and the superstructure is graft. The public utilities are held by villains, who hold peanut politicians in bondage. Corrupt office holders who plunder are vindicated by the courts, while a petty thief gets many years imprisonment. The streets are filled with women suffragists, shouting for emancipation, while their children are held in bondage by sin. Wine flows down the swanlike necks of society dames, who fill the rooms of the most exclusive cafes with their cigarette smoke, while the tenderloin leader of this fashion walks the streets unmolested. The barking of dogs is heard on the sweet boulevards, instead of the laughter of children, for these 'appendages of humanity' are consigned to the gloom of the nursery.

"Because of the inefficiency of the Board of Health, some motherly club women, who may not know whetehr the original product, as it comes from the cow, is milk or buttermilk, desert their families, inspect the many dairies, interview Lady Moo, and save oppressed humanity from much water and many microbes.

ATTACKS HUSBANDS.

"Club men, with an eye for pleasure, excuse themselves from their families and steal off to meet their affinities, and discuss the question of soul-mating Many preachers conduct a stereotyped order of services, and go through a liturgical performance equal in length to a Chinese hymn. In order to inspire empty pews, they deal out historic platitudes, and glittering generalities, sweetened with homiletical sugar while the appreciative audience slumbers

"The city officials acquire proficiency in moral acrobatics, so that whatever way they may jump, they can earn popular approval by landing on the fence. Vice reigns supreme, while the civic organizations endeavor to curb it by discussing questions of such atomic importance as, 'What is the psychological or pseudo-hyperthropical effect of electrocution upon a human bullfrog?' One small ray of light in all this murkiness is the Ebell Club baby show, where King Baby reigns for a time above Chopin or Browning.

"This is a picture of either San Francisco or Oakland, Each of these parasites is endeavoring by annexation to devour the other, although in their modesty they would be willing to annex the rest of the United States. In the struggle each deplores the moral stench of the other.

"If we had woman suffrage conditions could not possibly be worse than they are now, and I believe that they would be better. For then the community would be rid of the harassing influence of the women's political equality clubs, as these clubs would have no more cause for existence. Besides this, we would see no more of the woman emancipator, and thus the homes would be rid of a baneful influence."

BERKELEY DRYNESS MAY BE MOVED BY TRUSTEES

College Town is Facing Deficit and Officials May Resort to Saloon Tax.

BERKELEY, Jan. 27.—"Will Berkeley have to resort to the licensed saloon to pay her honest debts?" This is the question which is now agitating the Board of Town Trustees. There is at present, after all the tax money is paid, threatened deficit in the town income of $12,000. "Where are the town authorities to look for funds to meet this deficit, and still keep up the running expenses?" is asked. The current monthly expenses of the town are over $1000.

It is being whispered around in town hall circles that the trustees may turn to the saloon problem as a way out of the difficulty. Not one of the town board is ready to say that the board will resort ot this method of raising money. By revoking the present prohibitory ordinance, and readopting the old high license ordinance with slight changes, which was in vogue until two years ago, they could raise the amount with ease.

Trustee Olsen, who is recognized as being in favor of the saloon, was silent on the question when interviewed today. He admitted, however, that in the proposed new charter an ordinance regulating the licensing of saloons would probably be placed before the people to vote upon.

TO CONTEST FOR HONOR POSITIONS

Seniors at U. C. Will Try to Win Speakerships at Commencement.

BERKELEY, Jan. 27.—Seniors in the University of California have engaged in an active competition as to who shall figure on the list of commencement speakers for the graduating exercises next May. President Benjamin Ide Wheeler has requested the members of the senior class to submit (1) a poem, (2) an oration written for the occasion or (3) a section of a paper prepared during the college year, the subject matter of which would be suitable for such an occasion. The poem and papers will be considered by a committee, and the selections will be made. The writers of the successful papers, or poems, will constitute the list of speakers from among the senior class.

Students submitting poems or papers in accordance with the rules of this contest, will not sign their names to their manuscript, but will use some mark. Under separate sealed cover each will write his name and address, together with the mark used in the manuscript. This is to insure that no charge of favoritism shall be lodged.

SHOWMAN HAS A PECK OF TROUBLE

Arrested on Battery Charge, Released Only to Run Up Against Attachment.

ALAMEDA, Jan. 27.—A. Ferner, manager for a minstrel company that showed here Saturday and last night, met all sorts of trouble during his short stay. He had been at the theater but a short time when he became engaged in a fight with A. Engle, an employe, and was arrested on a battery charge. He secured his release on bail, returned to the theater and found that an attachment had been levied by the Francis-Valentine Company for $100.

While an adjustment was being made the patrons of the playhouse were kept waiting for the performance. The troupe left town last night and Ferner forfeited his $25 bail on the battery charge.

VALUE OF ELECTRICAL INDUSTRIES

The immense value and importance of the electrical business in the United States are shown by a statistical summary in the January number of the Western Electrician. Electrical and auxiliary manufactures for 1907 are given at $315,920,000, this being a slight decrease from the totals for 1906, but an increase of about 20 per cent over 1903. The decline for 1907 had been anticipated and seems to have been chiefly in the line of new construction.

Grouping the figures, the Western Electrician finds that wire and cables manufactures for the year amount to $88,625,000; dynamos and motors, $74,000,000; telephone apparatus, $28,500,000; lamps of all kinds, $13,135,000; cars, trucks and railway supplies, $15,700,000; prime movers, $37,750,000.

ARCHITECTURAL EXHIBIT AT COLLEGE IS SUCCESS

BIG ATTENDANCE AT U. C. AFFAIR

Many Drawings Shown by Students, as Well as by Prof. Howard.

BERKELEY, Jan. 27.—Under the supervision of John Galen Howard, professor of architecture in the University of California, the Architectural Association of the University has just completed its second annual exhibition. Many visitors thronged the Architectural building on the north side of the campus Saturday and Sunday, inspecting the work of the students, and a number of practicing architects of San Francisco, who were among the visitors, were unstinted in their praise of the work done by the young architects.

This year's exhibition is considerably larger and more comprehensive than that of last year, owing to an increased enrollment in that department. Greater interest appears to have been taken by the public also this year, perhaps because the Architectural Department is now in its own attractive building, and also because of the growing public demand for artistic buildings. Pen and ink drawings made by the students composed the greater part of the exhibit, although there were numerous wash sketches. A few European sketches made by Professor Howard were on exhibition, as well as some perspectives by W. C. Hays, assistant in the department.

Interest of the public centered, however, in the drawings, in perspective, of the Greater University buildings, which have been sketched by Architect Howard in accordance with the permanent plans of the Greater University. Here may be seen the Doe Library, and the future University of California Law Building, as they will stand in relation to the present buildings on the campus.

Professor Howard went to the University of California in 1902, and since that time he has contributed toward the Greater University plans three magnificent structures, the Hearst Greek Theater, Hearst Mining Building and California Hall. The foundations are already constructed for the Doe Library.

IRON AND STEEL EXPORTS.

The year 1907 gave the highest record of exports of iron and steel, the total being approximately $200,000,000, against $63,000,000 in 1897, and $16,500,000 in 1887. The value of iron and steel manufactures exported has increased more than 200 per cent, during the last decade, while that of other merchandise exported has increased less than 100 per cent. About one-half of this total, approximating $95,000,000, consisted of machinery, while the value of sewing machines exported was approximately $8,000,000.

"PINNACLES" MADE A NATIONAL MONUMENT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—The President has just signed a proclamation making a national monument of the jagged peaks known as the Pinnacles, situated in the western part of San Benito county, California. The area of the monument is about 2080 acres. This natural wonder is about nine miles due east from the Southern Pacific station at Soledad, and is reached by two roads. The jagged formation of the rocks is of much scientific interest.

The pinacles, which have an actual area of slightly more than 2000 acres, are located within the Pinacles national forest, which has an area of 14,108 acres. The movement to give the peaks permanent protection and preserve them for their scientific interest was started by Hon. J. C. Needham and other influential Californians, in 1904.

TO ARGUE WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE AT VARSITY

Mrs. M. W. Clark First of Her Sex to Address Student Body at U. C.

BERKELEY, Jan. 27.—Mrs. Maude Wood Clark of Boston has the distinction of being the first woman invited to address the associated student body at the University of California. Mrs. Clark will speak Friday morning next at 11 o'clock in Harmon Gymnasium and her subject will be "Woman's Suffrage."

Mrs. Clark is the founder of Woman's Suffrage Leagues in Boston, at Stanford University and at the University of California, and elsewhere.

The invitation extended to Mrs. Clark by President Wheeler was given largely through the instrumentality of Mrs. William Keith of the Woman's Equality Club of Berkeley.

POLICE RAID FAN TAN, JOINT AND CAPTURE 16

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27. — The most successful fan tan raid that has been conducted by the local police in some time, was carried through at 1 o'clock this morning by Policemen Bunner, McPhee and O'Connell. The officers, in plain clothes, made their way through devious paths to the rear of the Chinese lottery at 1580 Post street. In spite of precautions taken a lookout gave the alarm and eight of the twenty-four occupants made their escape.

Sixteen, including Ah Gem, the keeper, were arrested. In a frantic effort to escape, ten of the men, all Chinese and Japanese, pied themselves one upon another in a six by three closet, while the other four feigned to be asleep in the bunks.

All were finally taken to the city prison together with a considerable amount of evidence.

SILVER RESIGNS AS BANK COMMISSIONER

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27.—Bank Commissioner Herman Silver has resigned. In an interview in Los Angeles, he said he had sent his resignation to Governor Gillett and yesterday the Governor, at the Fairmont, said that he had received the resignation. It is immediately effective and the Governor will soon appoint a successor to Silver.

"No cause for resigning is given by Mr. Silver," said the Governor. "He merely sent me a note accompanying his formal resignation, in which he said I should find his resignation enclosed. The note was very brief.

"Do you know why Mr. Silver resigned?" the Givernor was asked.

"It is said that he thought the work of getting around his district, which takes him into the mountains from time to time, was too great," was the reply.

There have been twelve applications sent to the Governor for Silver's place. These have been filed by the Governor's secretary.

Gardner and Palmer both deny the accusation and declare they were first attacked by Durham and were compelled to defend themselves. What caused the fight has not been stated. Durham was able to go home after treatment.

NEW PASTOR INSTALLED AT UNITARIAN CHURCH

REV. SIMONDS IS TO HOLD OFFICE

Addresses Are Made by Rev. Dr. Wendte, Colonel Irish and Others.

The Rev. William Day Simonds was installed last night to the office of permanent pastor of the First Unitarian Church of this city.

To the immense congregation he made appeals for mutual co-operation in his work, and asked that all strive in making his parish one of the foremost religious influences in the city.

OUR VICTORIES.

"Let us meet our difficulties together. Let us bear our burdens together," said the newly installed minister. "Let us win our triumphs together and when we have realized our hopes I will never say this is 'my church' and 'my work' and 'my victory,' but I will always say 'our work, our church and our victory.'"

The invocation was given by the Rev. John Howard Lathrop, pastor of the First Unitarian Church of Berkeley.

The Rev. Dr. Charles W. Wendte, pastor of the First Brighton Church of Boston, delivered the installation sermon and spoke on "The Use of the Church in Modern Society."

MUST BE USEFUL.

Dr. Wendte declared that people of today were asking, not what is the divine origin of the church, but what service does it render, and on the basis of service they were making their estimates of the church's worth.

To many, he declared, the church would seem to be useless, as they preferred to pass their Sundays out of it. In fact, said the speaker, church-goers in all denominations are declining in number.

"The unchurchliness of our day," continued Dr. Wendte, "is exceptionally great and needs to be arrested." He argued for the continued existence of the church on the ground that man would always feel the impulse and need of religious expression, but made no claim of divine right or supernatural origin or sanction for it. He admitted the church, as it is today, had defects, but declared it the greatest of civilizing forces.

"In the first place," said Dr. Wendt, "the church stands for public associated worship. All healthy religious feeling seeks to express itself. The soul must needs voice its yearning and love in song and prayer and testimony. It is possible that you individually may not care or need these. Then you are an exception among men, for where there is one philosopher in religion there are a hundred poets; where one soul is fed by silent meditation on sound themes, a hundred need the stimulus and glow of associated worship."

COLONEL IRISH SPEAKS.

Sacred music rendered by the choir added much to the solemnity of the occasion.

Colonel John P. Irish made the response for Oakland Church and said in part:

"The Unitarian Church of Oakland should march abreast with the rest of our city churches.

"Stand shoulder to shoulder as one of the leading intellectual features of the city of Oakland."

The Rev. Dr. Leavitt of San Francisco extended greetings to the pastor and his congregation.

Rev. Frederick L. Hosmer gave Scripture readings. Dean Earl M. Wilbur delivered the prayer of installation and Rev. Clarence Reed rendered the benediction. Closing words were delivered by the Rev. Clarence Reed.

In expenditure for dress New York women hold the record.

The menometer is a new machine to measure the will power.

SLEEPING CHINESE ROBBED OF $230

Daring Thief Drags Laundryman's Trunk and Trousers From Under Bed.

BERKELEY, Jan. 27.—Burglars ransacked the room of Chin Dip, an employe of the Sam Lung Laundry, 2026 Addison street, last night, extracting $230 and a gold watch valued at $20. Chin Dip, after the custom of Orientals, who have a supreme contempt for American banking institutions, had hidden the money in an old trunk. The watch was in his trousers under the bed. Dip was absent from his room from 7 o'clock last night until 6 o'clock this morning, having spent the night in San Francisco.

Chin Wo, a brither of Chin Dip, the loser of the coin, slept in the room, shortly after his brother started for San Francisco, and never left it until his return this morning, which adds to the mystery of the robbery. The Chinese informed the police this morning that when he came home he found the trunk lying in the ward with the cover torn open and its contents scattered over the length of the lot. The trousers were found near the entrance of the lot, showing that the burglar had made a hurried exist, rifling the pockets as he ran.

The police are working on the case, but are unable to say whether it is the work of some fellow Chinese or whether the laundry has been visited by some professional burglar who was acquainted with the methods and habits of the Oriental laundrymen.

NEW CHARTER WILL BE DRAFTED IN BERKELEY

Town Trustees to Issue Proclamation for Election of Board of Freeholders.

BERKELEY, Jan. 27.—The principal feature of the Town Trustee's meeting tomorrow night will be a proclamation issued by the board calling for the election of a board of freeholders, whose duty it shall be to draft a new charter for the city of Berkeley.

Town Attorney Redmond C. Staats, and his deputy, James Koford, have been engaged for the past two days drawing up the legal call and will have it in shape to present to the trustees at their meeting tomorrow night.

Deputy Town Attorney James Koford, in speaking of the matter, said:

"We have prepared a resolution calling an election of a board of fifteen freeholders. Within the course of a week we will meet the Board of Trustees as a committee of the whole for the purpose of inserting in the resolution election offices and polling places.

TO PASS SOON.

"It is expected that the resolution will be passed at the next regular meeting of the Board of Trustees, which is to be held on February 4. The election, the time of which will be given out by the trustees, will probably be held in the latter part of April or the first of May.

"Upon the election of the fifteen representative freeholders, they will prepare a draft of the charter within ninety days after the election. The proposed charter will then be published in the newspapers for a certain number of times, after which it will be submitted to the people, who will either accept or reject it. It will then have to be ratified by both houses of the State Legislature, after which it will become a law of the municipality."

BERKELEY WINS FROM FRUITVALE

Basketball Team of High Schools Hold Spirited Contest.

BERKELEY, Jan. 27.—Saturday evening at the Reliance Club gymnasium, the Berkeley High basketball team decisively defeated the Fruitvale High team by the score of 44 to 7. This eleminates another competitor from the race for the A. A. L. championship.

Service and Captain Jory were the Berkeley stars, Service throwing eight out of thirteen baskets in the first half, while Jory was always in the game.

Fruitvale was so completely outclassed that no particular player stood out as much better than the others.

Both sides had many chances for baskets, but were unable to throw accurately. In the second half Fruitvale changed centers, but the change did not appear to be for the better.

Max Stone and C. M. Woodruff, the officials, were fair and impartial. They alternated as referee and umpire. The lineup:

Berkeley		Fruitvale
Jory	Forwards	Burns
Drake-Stover		Buckholz
Service	Center	Hill-Woodward
Davis	Guards	McHatton

MANUFACTURE OF ARMOR.

A revolution is threatened in the manufacture of armor plate by the invention of Lieutenant-Colonel Cleland Davis, U. S. N., of a method of hardening plate by electricity. The old method of Krupp and Harvey was by annealing. The royalties paid by the Carnegie company on the old processes were so high that they run the cost of armor plate up hundreds of dollars.

By the old methods of annealing it never could be told how deep a plate was hardened or even tempered. By the Davis patent it is claimed a plate can be hardened uniformly any depth. Electrodes will be used. The carbon will be distributed in powdered form over the face of the plate under the electrodes and will work on the face of the plate, gradually decreasing the center, leaving the back part of the plate tough and pliable.

Under the Krupp and Harvey process it requires weeks to harden a plate, but the Davis process lessens the time materially.

THE LARGEST ENGINE.

The largest engine ever installed in the world has just been built by the Allis-Chalmers Company for the Carnegie Steel Company. It will have a capacity of 25,000 horse power, and the weight of the great engine is a million and a quarter pounds. It is a horizontal, twin-tandem rolling-mill engine with forty-two-inch cylinders and 70x84 inches stroke. Another small engine is also employed in operating the steam throttle valves.

AGED FARMER ENDS LIFE BY HANGING FROM RAFTERS

Matthew Bell Kills Himself in Ranch Barn; Leaves No Reason.

LIVERMORE, Jon. 27.—In the barn at the rear of his home the body of Matthew Bell, prospe ous Livermore valley farmer and well-known man throughout Alameda county, was found yesterday morning hanging from a rope which had been attached to a rafter. Near the feet of the lifeless man was a box which showed how he had attached the noose about his neck and had then swung clear to meet death.

Bell was seventy-six years old, but always seemed of a happy disposition, and why he committed suicide his friends cannot state. He had been at Livermore during the week and seemed in good spirits. He returned to his ranch on Friday and that was the last seen of him alive. Just when he ended his life is not known. He left no note to tell why he had committed suicide.

He was an unmarried man and had lived near Livermore for many years.

WEALTHY MONTANA MAN DROPS DEAD

D. J. Hennessy, Pioneer Merchant and Leading Politician, Succumbs to Heart Failure.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

BUTTE, Mont. Jan. 27 — D. J. Hennessy, president of the Hennessy Mercantile Company, a pioneer of Montana and considered the wealthiest merchant in the northwest, dropped dead on the street at 8 o'clock today of heart trouble on his way hom from early mass. He was born at Fredericktown, N. B., in 1854. A widow and three children survive.

Mr. Hennessy came to Montana in 1879 and engaged in business in Helena with E. L. Bonner and company, a pioneer firm. Three years later he established a store in Butte, then a small camp. This place was burned out in 1889, but out of the ruins grew the present store, the largest between St. Paul and Portland. Mr. Hennessy was many times a millionaire.

He had held high offices in the National Ancient Order of Hibernians, was a leading Democratic politician and had given fortunes to the Catholic Church. He was also a Knight of Columbus.

$900,000 BLAZE THREATENS CITY

Business District of Portland, Me., Saved Through Heroic Work of Firemen.

PORTLAND Me., Jan. 27.—Fire which several times threatened to wipe out the business district of this city and which caused damaged estimated at over $900,000 was kept confined to the block in which it started this morning after almost ten hours of fighting by Portland's firemen, aided by men and apparatus from several outside cities.

The fire started in the wholesale drygoods house of Milliken, Cousins & Company, and it was in their half of the building that the greater part of the loss was sustained. Later, when the fire was thought to be under control the other half of the building, occupied by A. F. Cox & Son, was invaded by the flames, which made their way through the roof and a party wall simultaneously and the $250,000 stock of boots and shoes was ruined.

The crew of engine No. 5 were standing beneath a wall on the side of the burned block when an explosion was heard, followed by the fall of the wall. The explosion had warned the men, however, and all were out of the way when the debris fell.

AN AGED PHYSICIAN

After Years of Experience Gives the Following Advice.

"If you have anything to do with with medicines at all be pretty sure you know what you are taking."

Mr. Parker, of the Owl Drug Company, says this is a strong point in favor of the valuable cod liver preparation, Vinol. "Everything it contains is plainly printed on the label therefore it is not a patent medicine.

Vinol contains in a highly concentrated form all of the medicinal, body building elements of cod liver oil actually taken from fresh cods' livers but with the useless, nauseating oil eliminated and tonic iron, which is a needful constituent for the blood added.

This is the reason that Vinol accomplishes such wonderful results in curing chronic coughs, colds, bronchial and lung troubles, and there is nothing known to medicine that will so quickly build up the run down over worked, tired and debilitated, or give strength and renewed vitality to the aged as Vinol.

We can only ask every person in Oakland who needs such a medicine to try Vinol on our offer to return their money if it fails. The Owl Drug Company, Oakland, Cal.

EARL OF YARMOUTH WANTS A MILLION FOR WIFE'S LIBERTY

MAY HAVE TO BUY HER SEPARATION

Report Has it That Annulment of Marriage Will Cost Big Sum.

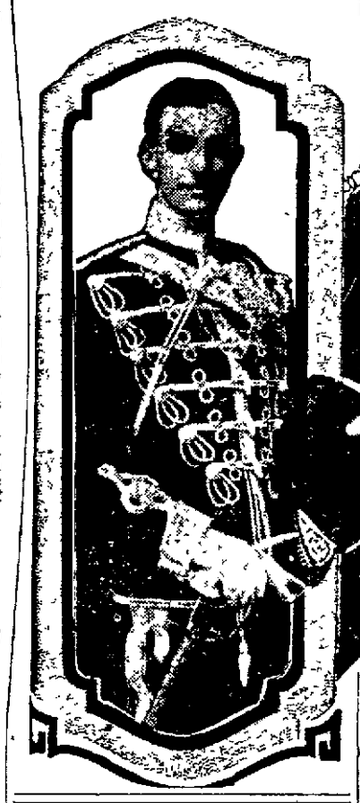

PITTSBURG, Jan. 25.—The Thaws have been notified by attorneys for the Earl of Yarmouth that the Earl will demand a settlement financially before submitting to divorce; that he holds a paper signed by Alice Thaw before her marriage which will give him a right to collect a large part of her fortune. The paper is an agreement that all her fortune shall pass to the house of Herford, the Earl of Yarmouth's family, in the event of her dying childless. A man employed by the Thaws admitted yesterday that the Thaw family expected to be held up for $1,000,000 on the part of the earl.

The Earl contends, according to his lawyers, that if the countess withdraws from his family by having her marriage annulled the house of Herford, which is comparatively poor, will be seriously injured. It is also argued that, she leaving the family without issue, under the terms of the agreement her fortune should be turned over to the earl.

The earl is said to have received large sums from trades people and money lenders on the strength of the agreement.

GIRL'S ABSENCE WORRIES PARENTS

Disappearance of Fifteen-Year-Old Stella Perry Still Shrouded in Mystery.

SAN LEANDRO, Jan. 27.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Perry have so far received no word from their fifteen-year-old daughter, Stella Perry, who mysteriously disappeared from her home in San Lorenz avenue a week ago. Mrs. Perry and her daughter were going to visit a neighbor last Tuesday, and while Mrs. Perry was waiting at the front door for her daughter, she stepped out of the back door, and since then she has not been heard of. The parents are in a highly nervous state over the disappearance of their child and have requested the police and newspapers to assist them in their search for the missing girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry know of no reason why their daughter should have left them. She was a child of happy disposition, and had always been a loving daughter. Her home life was of the pleasantest. The parents have only one suggestion, their daughter may have gone away with her married sister, Mrs. Charles H. Pinneo, who left with her husband Tuesday for New York.

(SPECIAL TO THE TRIBUNE.)

SPOKANE Wash., Jan. 27.—Some elements of a romance are contained in the marriage of Miss Mary Pelikan of Bridgeport Conn., and Leonard S. Heisinger of Fresno, Cal., at 615 South Oak street, here, who met the first time a few hours before the wedding, January 21. The service was performed by Rev. C. F. Stevens. The groom is a fruit buyer in the Spokane country. Just how the couple became acquainted is not given out, but a close friend of Heisinger says the groom placed his card in a box of Spokane valley apples sent to Boston with a consignment for New England trade and Miss Pelikan found it. Complying with the request to begin a correspondence a letter was sent by the bride and then there was an exchange of photographs. Dan Cupid was doing business at the same stand as of yore and it was the old old story over again. Mr. and Mrs. Heisinger will make their home in Spokane after a short tour of the Pacific Coast.

PERPETUAL MOTION MACHINE RUNS TWO WEEKS

Inventor Believes He Has Solved Great Problem After Ten Years Experimenting.

CHICAGO Jan. 27.—Charles J. Webber, a young mechanic of Oak Park, after ten years of experiment believes that he has very nearly solved the problem of perpetual motion.

At his home is the working model of his invention which he says has run for two weeks with no apparent diminution of power. He believes that it will continue to do so until the materials of which it is constructed wear out.

Power is generated by the swift passage of a number of steel balls down a double incline, built in the general form of a triangle. The balls are held together by a contrivance of buckets, which act as an endless chain. The model is six inches in length, three inches wide and eighteen inches high. The balls used in the model weighs only 28 pounds in all, yet he claims for his invention the generation of six horse power.

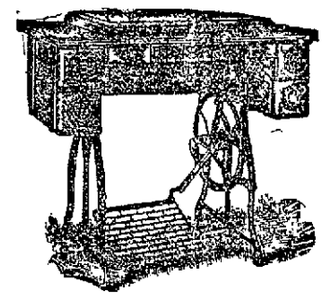

In leading the highest point in the triangle the steel balls pass down an incline of 45 degrees and fall into the pockets of a circular drum which occupies the acute end of the triangle. With the revolution of this drum the balls pass to a second incline set at about 30 degrees. When they reach the base of the triangle they are hoisted again into place at the top by the weight of the other balls.

So far, the inventor affirms, the principle of friction has not seriously interfered with the working of his machine.

By supplying a variety of sizes of wheels, he says, he has been able to multiply his power many times.

An electrical spanking-machine is in use in some of the Italian prisons.

Calhoun's Right of Trial.

Patrick Calhoun has returned from New York and announces that he desires a speedy trial. That is no more than his due. His attorneys have again and again demanded that his case be set, but Heney, Langdon, et. al. would never agree to fixing a date for the trial of the chief object of the graft prosecution and a man against whom they have endeavored to direct the entire volume of public opprobrium. After denying in November Calhoun's plea for a speedy trial, Langdon went to New York and in numerous public speeches and published interviews declared that they had a perfect case against Calhoun and would surely send him to State prison. On the stump during the late municipal campaign Heney made the same assertion. In Washington and Portland he reiterated the statement and had it sent all over the country by the Associated Press. However, Heney and Langdon said Ruef would have to serve a term in prison, although they had signed a contract last May guaranteeing him complete immunity.

But it is due the public that Calhoun should be tried without delay. Public policy has a higher claim to consideration than either Rudolph Spreckels or Patrick Calhoun, although the latter, having his good name, his liberty and his property at stake, has a superior right, in fairness if not in law, to any Spreckels can urge. While Spreckels has taken charge of the administration of justice so far as the graft cases are concerned, he has no mandate from the people or the law empowering him to say who shall be tried and who shall be allowed to go free, to say when trials shall be set and the manner in which trials shall be conducted.

The law guarantees every accused person a fair and impartial trial. Mr. Calhoun's rights in this respect are the same as those of any other person—no more, no less. He stands accused, formally indicted by a grand jury, of the heinous crime of corrupting public officials and obtaining valuable privileges by bribery. He declares his innocence, and has repeatedly demanded an opportunity to prove the charges false, but thus far the prosecution and Judge Lawlor have denied him the opportunity he craves and the law guarantees. He has been denied a speedy trial, and there are many cumulative evidences that the proscution, as represented by Spreckels, Heney, Burns, et. al., do not intend that he shall have a fair trial if they can help it. The immunity deals with Ruef and Gallager and their pals prove that. The concealments and illegal frauds practiced with the knowledge and connivance of Judge Dunne during the Schmitz trial are other proofs.

But while these deals are infamous and the frauds and concealments are an indelible reproach to the prosecution and disgraceful to judicial process they do not prove Calhoun to be innocent nor mitigate the turpitude charged against him. Nor is his purity established by the fact that the prosecution collogued with certain labor leaders to have a strike on the United Railroads called simultaneous with the finding of the indictments against the president and other officers of the street railway corporation, however reprehensible in motive and method this proceeding was. The public is entitled to know the truth and have a test applied to the exasperating and expensive trolley prosecutions. If Calhoun is guilty his guilt should be established in a court of law and punishment meted out to fit the crime. If he is innocent, that fact should be shown, in justice to him and the people of San Francisco. At least, he should be given an opportunity to make his defense where he can have a fair hearing and an impartial trial.

For months Heney, Langdon and Burns have been declaring that they had a complete chain of evidence against him. Let them produce it, and not continue to fill the public prints with all sorts of stories and accusations plainly intended to arouse popular prejudice and provoke public indignation.

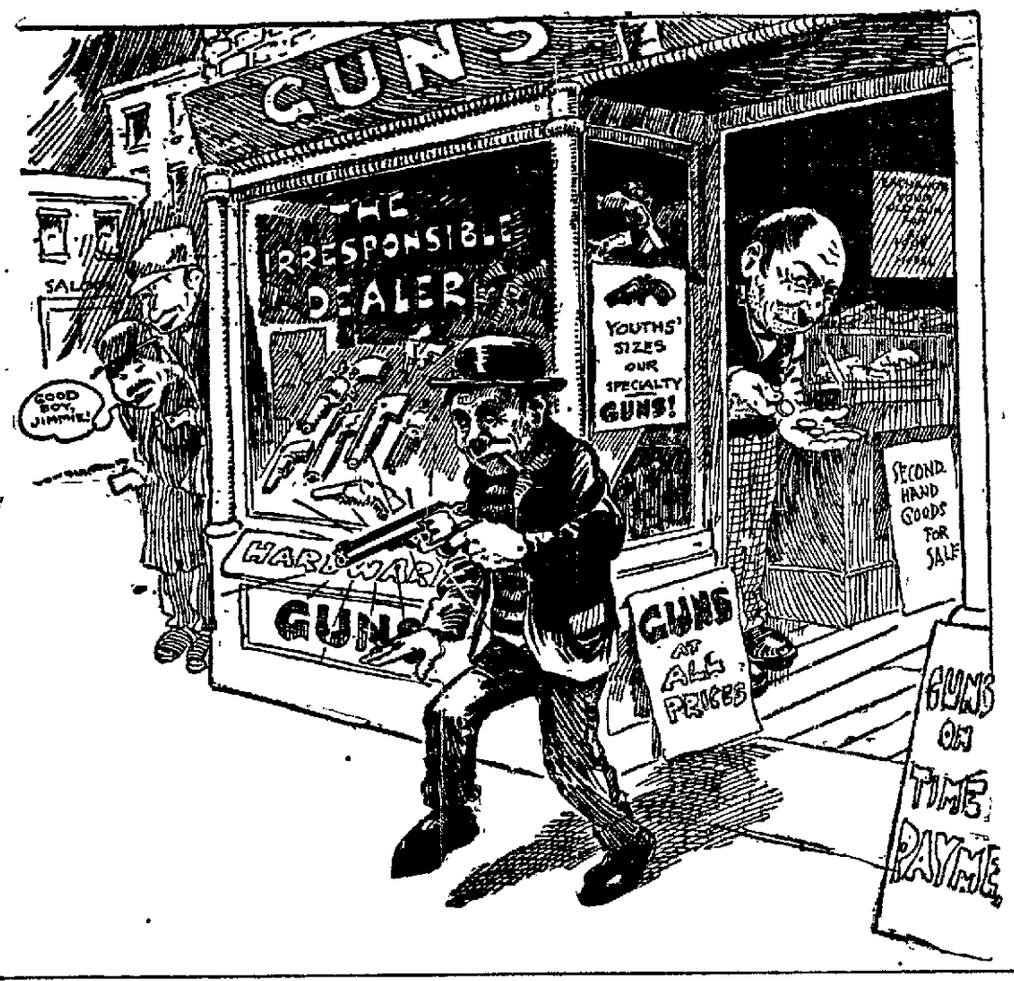

In the Ford trial Deputy District Attorney O'Gara explicitly declared the prosecution had no evidence against William M. Abbott and Thornwell Mullally. In the first trial of Tirey L. Ford the jury disagreed, standing practically eleven to one for acquittal. An acquittal was promptly rendered in the second trial. There only remains Calhoun of the trolley officials to be brought to bar. He is the head of the United Railroads, the chief figure in the so-called graft cases, the man above all others the prosecution has singled out for branding as a criminal. If he is not guilty no one named in the trolley indictments is. For seven months he has vainly asked for a trial. He asked to be tried when the Ford case was called, but the prosecution not only refused to accede to the request but has ever since declined to fix a date when he would be tried.

It is time this sort of jockeying with justice and the right of fair and speedy trial should cease. Public and private interests alike demand that the facts of this case be brought out. Whether they can be brought out by qualifying boodlers as witnesses by giving them immunity baths and written guarantees against prosecution is a question for judges and juries to answer. Laymen may have their opinion of the propriety and fairness of offering a multiple criminal the option of going to prison himself or testifying to the commission of crime by another, but the legality of the proceeding is for courts to determine and it is the province of jurors fairly selected acting in an impartial capacity to weigh the value and credibility of evidence so obtained.

There are, however, certain material considerations which call for a speedy hearing of the indictments against Patrick Calhoun. The validity of certain franchises is at stake. A vast amount of money is being expended on the San Francisco street railway system that will be jeopardized in part if Calhoun should be found guilty of obtaining franchises by bribery. New complications promising bitter political agitation, class bickering and protracted civil litigation will be projected into the local situation to harass the community and retard the growth of the city and the development of its commerce. Calhoun is himself a comparative stranger to the people of California. He is a man of historic lineage, high social and financial connections, and previously unsullied reputation. He has trusted his freedom and his fortune to the justice of our laws and the fairness of our people. He should be given a square deal—the common right of every man. If he has committed crime his wealth, distinguished ancestry, education, refinement and high position in the social scale make his offense all the blacker. But such a man should not be condemned and disgraced without a hearing. The mere assertions of a coalition of personal and financial enemies and confessed boodlers are not sufficient—at least, should not be sufficient—to deprive such a man of his liberty, his good name and property in this country. It is time there was a general show-down of all hands. The public is tired and a bit ashamed of private prosecutors who boast of carrying cards up their sleeves and who conduct criminal trials much in the manner that a pea-and-shell artist plys his trade at a country fair.

The right thing to do is to give Patrick Calhoun a speedy trial and a fair trial, in accordance with the established rules of criminal procedure and let him take the consequences.

THE MAN BEHIND THE GUNS

Ignoring American Jurisdiction.

The Chinese Consul-General has notified the leaders of the rival tongs which have been waging a deadly war with one another for many years that the Chinese embassy at Washington has issued an edict ordering them to settle their difference at once or they will be punished by the Chinese government. Some time ago THE TRIBUNE asserted that if the Consul-General used his influence, or, in other words, exercised the authority over his countrymen which he arrogates to himself as the representative of his government, the tong wars would probably be brought to an end. The official notice given to the tong leaders to quit has had the immediate effect of bringing the heads of the Chinese Six Companies together to negotiate terms of peace. Meantime, a truce has been declared until the close of the Chinese new year holiday season.

But the extraordinary feature in the whole transaction is the total ignorance by the Chinese Embassy and the Chinese Consul-General of the local police and judicial authorities. The edict broadly asserts that these tong wars are under the jurisdiction of the Chinese government and that the right of the granting immunity or imposing punishment for the murders that are being committed by the members of the warring tongs is vested exclusively in the authorities at Peking. It is an imprudent assumption, but it is strictly in accord with what has been Chinese practice in this country since the race first planted its colonies here.

The Chinese have never shown any respect for our laws. They have, in fact, on all occasions when our laws have been violated by any of the members of the tongs, used every means in their power to hobble the police authorities, to shield the criminals, to hamper the regularly constituted law courts and to defeat the ends of American justice, through processes of secret trials conducted by courts organized within the inner circle of their own colony and the settlement of capital crimes on a monetary basis. The existence of this Chinese imperium in imperio has not only been known all along by the representatives of the Chinese government, but its operations, in defiance of our own laws, has evidently been officially countenanced and its edicts approved.

The edict of the Chinese Washington embassy which the Chinese Consul-General has promulgated is the first official admission openly made, we believe, that the Peking government asserts to itself superior jurisdiction over the Chinese colonies here to that of the government in whose territory they are living by toleration. The incident should not be allowed to pass unrebuked by either the municipal, State or Federal authorities. Some way ought to be found now whereby the Chinese Embassy and the Chinese Consul-General can be brought to realize and recognize that there is a government and that there are laws here which they and their countrymen must obey and must hold themselves amenable to as long as they reside within the jurisdiction of the United States.

General Grosvenor, the veteran warhorse of the Athens district, says the fight against Taft in Ohio does not amount to much. That has been our opinion all along. Unless all signs fail Taft will carry every Congressional district in the State and be declared Ohio's choice for President by unanimous vote of the convention. Hughes can get no such endorsement in New York.

LOOK FOR STAMP MARK ON JEWELRY PURCHASES

(By ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Manufacturing jewelers in New York and other places have started a campaign against the sellers of fraudulent jewelry. The stamping act, passed by congress at the request of the jewelers, provides for a penalty in case of jewelry stamped as a higher grade than it really is. This has been effective, but as the law does not requires tamping there are jewelers who sell jewelry from which the mark has been removed. Manufacturing jewelers warn all purchasers that they should look for the tamp on all the jewelry.

CHICAGO POLICEMAN KILLS HOLD-UP MAN

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—After attempting to avoid arrest, a man believed to be Henry Von Bargen was shot and killed last night by Rudolph Brukopp, a patrolman. With a companion, who escaped, Von Bargen had attacked Newton Hurtt, and was seen rifling his victim's pockets.

WHITENS THE SKIN.

The formula given below will be found wonderfully effective for whitening the skin, even that of the darkest complexion. This mixture, while being absolutely harmless, has a peculiar chemical action on the surface of the skin, bleaching the cuticle and imparting that creamy softness which is so desirable.

The formula was given out by a noted dermatologist and is as as follows:

Two ounces of Rose Water; one ounce Spirits of Cologne; four ounces crystalized Sartoin. Put the Sartoin in a pint of warm water, then add the Rose Water and Cologne Spirits, and after dissolved and cooled, strain through a fine cloth. These ingredients are obtainable from any well stocked druggist.

This will make a supply sufficient for a month's treatment, although the beneficial results are usually apparent after the first few applications. This should be used daily and massaged well into the skin of the face, bust and arms. It produces a glowing sensation and the use of powders or rouge are entirely unnecessary.

Compounding Felonies Not an Evidence of Civic Righteousness

The course of the graft prosecution throughout has been marked by the grossest folly, and that is putting it mildly. People who have no sympathy with any of the group of evil-doers, and would like to see every guilty one punished according to his deserts, are getting weary of the whole wretched business. They begin to fear that the precedents laid down by the prosecution are as much a menace to good government as the reign of graft itself. The acceptance of financial aid from private sources, thereby creating a sort of partnership between the government and private individuals, the immunity contracts granted to confessedly bribed public servants, with the privilege of keeping their illgotten wealth on condition that they aid the prosecution in its efforts to land in jail others against whom the officials, or their financial backers, seem to have an especial grudge, are not examples of civic righteousness that command approval of citizens generally. They have the earmarks of a prostitution of the machinery of justice which Heney and Langdon cannot erase from the public mind. It is an application of the doctrine of doing evil to accomplish good that should never be tolerated anywhere, much less by trusted servants of the people. —Ledger, Amador.

Southern View of Taft's Candidacy for Presidential Honors.

The President is committed, in more ways than one, to the avowed candidacy of Judge Taft. It is even whispered in some circles that his abrupt third-term disclaimer was dictated by a desire to give Taft an unobstructed right-of-way before the latter's return to this country. At the same time, it is impossible to lose sight of the fact that the big Ohioan has not captured the Republican imagination as the President hoped he would do. He has stirred enthusiasm in local centers, it is true. His personality is an appealing and singularly pure one, and he would challenge admiration and partial support simply on the ground of his individual merits.

But the Republican masses have failed to thrill convincingly to the Taft bugle. Whether his candidacy will be galvanized into new life by the President's announcement and his subsequent plans remains to be seen.—Atlanta Constitution.

Aged Eccentric | MILLIONAIRE | Worth $2,000,000 | WRITES SENTIMENTAL | "Mushy" and Affectionate | LOVE LETTERS

CLINTON, Ill., Jan. 27.—A bunch of love letters from Colonel Thomas Snell, the eccentric millionaire, who died here some months ago, to his grandniece, Mabel Snell McNamara, are to decide the ultimate disposition of the $2,000,000 Snell estate.

All the letters now are in the hands of Judge W. G. Cochrane, and will be read tomorrow morning, when the taking of evidence in the famous will case is begun.

The last of the twelve jurors who are to pass upon the case was selected in Judge Cochrane's court this afternoon, and not only Clinton but all central Illinois is waiting for the actual facts in what they term a "high scandal" concerning a family which for years has been one of the first in the State.

LETTERS TELL OF LOVE.

Although the letters have been carefully guarded by the lawyers, neither side wishing their contents to become public until forced by the court to offer them as evidence, a glimpse at some of the most important of them this afternoon revealed their nature. The letters contain the details of a bizarre love story—the love of a wealthy man who long had passed his allotted three score years and ten for his niece, who then was but 24 years old.

That his affection was reciprocated is proved by the tenor of the replies of the latter, now Mrs. McNamara.

Colonel Snell, apparently, did not permit his show of affection to stop at mere words, if the evidence to be offered tomorrow morning is to be taken as a criterion. There is a long list of checks and sums of money which he gave to her from time to time. The cash, it will be declared in court, amounted approximately to $50,000, while real estate valued at $25,000 was transferred to her.

A trip to the sunny South, which Colonel Snell either took with Mrs. McNamara or intended to take with her was the subject of one letter which will play an important part in the case.

UNCLE'S AFFECTION RETURNED.

Mrs. McNamara used strong language to express her affection for her loving uncle, one of her letters reading:

"My Own True Love: Yes, we will take a lovely trip to the South. O, I can't wait until the time comes. I am so anxious to be in your arms again. I am feeling a terrible pain now, dearest. How are you? Do you want to see me as badly as I do you? You know that I don't want anybody to love me but you—you alone.

"We will take Walter along with us, but you know that he is nothing to me. I do not care a rap for him. I will let you see us together and you will be able to judge for yourself.

"YOUR OWN LITTLE BABY."

"SWEETEST LETTER OF ALL."

There is another letter, which Colonel Snell apparently selected as being the best of the entire correspondence—at any rate he marked it so. "Sweetest letter of them all" is the wording covering the envelope of the letter. It reads:

"My Own True Darling Sweetheart: I am truly your very own. It is such bliss to be with you. If it was but tomorrow instead of such a long time that I must wait to feel the warmth of your cheek again, the pressure of your arms, the music of your voice. O, but to be with you is enough for me. With all the love in the world.

"YOUR SWEETHEART."

There were many others of the same tone. At times the young woman permitted her love to set a pace she could not follow with her vocabulary. At such times she contented herself merely with being incoherent, permitting the recipient of her love token to guess that her meaning was such as he would desire.

$1000 FOR ONE KISS.

As to the money which Colonel Snell is declared to have given her, it is said that he seized upon most trivial incidents to hand her sums ranging from $50 to $1000. At one time, it is said, she stepped in the mud, soiling a petticoat, and Colonel Snell noticed the mishap and directly called her attention to it.

"No, little one, you shall not soil your clothes when you are with me without having the loss made good," he is said to have told her. Then, to "make good the loss," he drew out his ever ready check book and wrote a check for $100.

Mrs. McNamara is credited with accepting the check and arranging to get "as good a petticoat as she could" for the money.

Married jurors will be asked if they believe such to be a "fair and reasonable" price for a soiled petticoat.

On another occasion Mrs. McNamara is said to have coquettishly withheld "Uncle Tommy's" customary kiss. The old man is said to have struggled for some time, but to no avail.

"Why, you don't want a kiss," the young woman is said to have replied in a playful manner.

"I don't!" exclaimed the millionaire. "Well, just let me show you how much I want it," and then came forth the check book and a moment later $1000 had been transferred to Mrs. McNamara.

LIBERAL WITH MONEY AND LAND.

It is declared that these were but a few of many similar incidents. Colonel Snell's bank account was practically unlimited and he had large tracts of land in various parts of the country.

Certain it is that many sections of this land and numerless checks found their way from Colonel Snell's coffers to the seemingly bottomless strong box of his sweetheart.

The question which the jury will be called upon to decide is whether these acts are an indication of affection of the old man for his niece, or whether they prove that Mrs. McNamara "exerted an evil, wrongful, and immoral influence over him."

Attorney Edward J. Sweeney, senior counsel for Richard Snell, the only living son of the dead millionaire, and who is endeavoring to break the will, expects to prove that such undue influence was exerted. He also expects to prove that the old man was a monomaniac, due chiefly to the hypnotic influence of the young woman.

After she met him, early in 1900, it is declared that Colonel Snell never was the same to his son, who is president of the Clinton Bank. It is declared that he went so far as to circulate false stories about his son in order to justify his growing hatred for him.

SON GETS LITTLE OF ESTATE.

In further substantiation of these assertions it is pointed out that Colonel Snell, in a codicil to his will just before his death, cut his annuity to Richard Snell from $1500 to $50.

In three codicils the annuities which provided for Mrs. McNamara gradually were increased from $400 to $1200, besides giving her a piece of real estate near Clinton valued at $7000.

One of the sensations that developed during the day was the fact that the former object of Colonel Snell's affections recently had been married at her home in Kansas City.

It is unknown whether her husband is in possession of the alleged facts which will be given an airing in Judge Cochran's court.

If he never has heard of them it is considered likely he will be an interested spectator at the trial. Mrs. McNamara is a blonde, of commanding appearance, and is about 29 years old. It is expected she will be the most interesting witness of a long list to be examined.

SANTA CLAUS Made in Philadelphia According to Latest Find IS A WOMAN

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 27. — The amazing discovery has been made that Santa Claus lives in Philadelphia instead of at the North Pole, which was supposed to be his permanent residence, and—still more astounding, it is now known that the venerable hero of Christmas Eve is neither venerable, nor a hero, but young and pretty and a heroine. The fact is, this modern Santa Claus wears skirts! The truth is its sex has also changed!

For Santa Claus is a woman!

"Miss Santa Claus, Philadelphia, Pa" gets all letters thus addressed, and she answers them, too," says Harper's Bazaar. In Philadelphia she is well known, and not alone by children. Society people know her in private life as Miss Elizabeth A. Phillips, founder of the Santa Claus Association—one of the most unique and worthy charities ever conducted for the suffering and unhappy children of the poor.

Last Christmas, "Miss Santa Claus," in the persons of representatives—wee little boys dressed in flannels and fur, who sat beside the chauffeurs—went to thousands of homes in the poor sections of the city in automobiles and presented bundles of gifts. It was a Christmas day such as had never been seen in the slums.

The past Christmas was the third in the existence of the Santa Claus Association, and to such proportions has the charity grown which started humbly three years before that the old man—the Kriss Kringle of our childhood—has been entirely displaced in the minds of poor little ones of Philadelphia by the good little woman.

Bride of an Hour Was Too Gay

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 27. — John Anderson, a farmer of Plummer, Minn., was so shocked when his bride of less than an hour invited him to join her in a cigarette at breakfast and asked for a bottle of beer, that he drove her from the house and began divorce proceedings on his wedding day, according to the story which comes from Red Lake Falls, Minn.

The bride was won by letter. She was Miss Jessie Berry of this city. She saw his advertisement for a wife, answered it, and he selected her from a long list of applicants.

HOW TO RELIEVE DULL DRESSES WITH COLOR

A dull gown may often be transferred by just a touch of different color. Thus, bright yellow or dull pink will often change the whole appearance of a brown gown, while a little light blue or purple has a charming effect.

The engagement is announced of Miss Claire Chabot, the youngest daughter of Mrs. Remi Chabot. The charming bride-elect is the sister of Mrs. J. P. H. Dunn, Mrs. Robert S. Knight and Mrs. J. H. Dieckman. She is one of the most attractive girls in local society and doubtless will be the motif for a series of delightful affairs. Miss Chabot is a member of the Friday Night Club, and is always a favorite guest at exclusive parties. She has spent much of her time recently at "Villaremi," the Chabot country home near St. Helena. Her father, the late Remi Chabot, was one of the well-known pioneers on this side of the bay. Mrs. Chabot is prominent in philanthropic work and has always been identified with the Fabiola Hospital Association. Besides the charitable work where the family has always taken an active interest the various members have found time for the society world, where they are all prominent.

Leon Bocqueraz is formerly of San Francisco, but is living now at the Claremont Country Club. He is a wealthy business man of San Francisco.

No date has been mentioned for the wedding.

!PETTICOAT MUST GO! ---SAYS PARIS

(By LADY VIOLET GREVILLE.)

The great question in Paris dressmaking circles is the petticoat—to be or not to be? The most fashionable conturieres have introduced the tightest-fitting and most clinging of robes, robes which they say cannot be worn over a petticoat, but need tights beneath. We have seen one or two specimens of these on the stage already, and fashion is slowly leading us back to the garments of the first empire, when corsets were abandoned, and elegantes like Mme. Recamier damped their limp dresses to make them cling closer to their bodies. Such costumes were very well when women never walked and always wore the thinnest of satin shoes, like the EmpressJosephine, who would not have condescended to put shoe leather on her pretty little feet; but now, when women tramp in the mud, jump in and out of tubes and omnibuses, the clinging garment, which impedes movement, seems utterly out of place.

Of course, the street dress must still be short, and with it the silk-flounced petticoat can be worn; but in the house and in evening dress the despotic decree has gone forth—no petticoats. There are some who still maintain that the chief reminine charm lies in the tempestuous petticoat, defining yet shrouding, alluring yet mysterious. At any rate, when petticoats are abolished, women will have to learn to walk gracefully, to sit down artistically, and move with seductive languour like the beauties of Napoelon's court, whose sinuous, graceful gait across a room was observed and admired.

For the rest, Parisiennes are mostly seen in smart tailor-made, with long tight-fitting coats, the daintiest of embroirede or brocaded waistcoats, some even of Japanese painted calico, trim black or brown fur toques, with exaggerated cockades at the side of osprey or cock's feathers. Dainty they always were in their footgear, and the severe livery of black has been considerably modified and abolished. Colored tops to boots and shoes are pleasing and novel, colored stockings are naturally worn to match. Lace is used as incrustation for the smart morning stocking, and even open-worked stockings are embroidered, while silver and gold stockings are made of yellow and grey silk, incrusted with lace. At last the exaggerated long shoe, introduced by the Americans, so foolish to look at and inconvenient to wear, is giving place to a more reasonable shape, and one that shows the well-shaped foot to greater advantage.

A nasal douche of slightly salted water is a remedy for catarrh. One-half a teaspoonful of common table salt should be dissolved in half a glass of water and then put into the douche bag, or it may be sniffed through the nostril, ejecting through the mouth. This should be done night and morning.

PRAYER OF ST. VALENTINE

Valentine, Saint o' the Rose, befriend me!
Give me the love of a love to hold;
Give me to keep it, tho' youth grow cold,
Stars grow dim, and the world-pain rend me.
I lay on your altar what life shall lend me,
Faith o' the dawn, and wisdom old.
Valentine, Saint o' the Rose, befriend me,
Give me the love of a love to hold!
Then, into what path the Fates shall send me,
Follow I blindly, with feet grown bold.
Who keepeth a love, knows peace well sold—
The incense rises, where low I bend me,
Valentine, Saint o' the Rose, befriend me!

WHY DO WOMEN ELOPE WITH STABLEMEN?

Boston, I fear, is on the verge of a drame d'Ecurie like those that have from time to time rattled the social limits of New York. The psychology of the stable has yet to be exposed, but certain it is there is a subtle fascination to our fashionable maids—and, it may be added, matrons, says Town Topics. This is the case of the daughter of a prominent Boston banker, who is famed for his irascible temper and who would very likely disapprove in unmeasured terms of his daughter's admiration for one of the riding teachers in the Park Riding School, if he knew it. The opinion of all the girl's friends is that he is in that absolute ignorance of it which is bliss. But at the same time the gossips are chattering. She is a charming girl, not exactly an unsuspecting debutante who might be excused for being won over by a handsome, attractive animal, as she has been out more than half a dozen years. She is not really pretty, but she is rich in her own right, and that probably gives her more independence than another girl would feel who was compelled to look to her father for the thousand and one things a girl likes to have. This is all the more reason why her infatuation for the riding teacher is inexplicable. There is no doubt but he is good-looking and, added to his personal attraction is a title, whether real or assumed no one knows. Still more, he is several years her junior. So constantly are the two together, riding in the highways and byways, that everyone is on the qui vive about them. Then, of late, they have been at other places when they were not riding, until it has been hinted in more than whispers that it is very foolish of him to continue to hold his position at the clubs, as there is no reason whatever why he should work. These are not the worst things said, by any means. The hardest part of it all is that the girl does not seem to realize that the adoration is all on her side, and that she will have a sad awakening is patent, unless her better sense recalls her to a proper view of conditions.

FALL BEFORE BLACK EYES SWIMMING WITH TEARS

She had large black eyes, and whenever she got herself in trouble she whimpered and cried. The life history of the suicide, "Mrs. John Van Ness Roberts," in reality Mrs. Louise Vermeule, who claimed to have been born a Stuyvesant, and to be a cousin of Stuyvesant Fish, and who was forger, financier, promoter and bunco-steerer par excellence, serves as but another illustration of the gullibility of New Yorkers. To say that she had any social position at all is absurd, but judging from her record of remarkable performances and deals it does seem that, in order to hoodwink the town of New York, all one has to do is to put on a bold front, across which is written an imposing name, spend money and appear at the smart restaurants. Few questions are asked in New York until the cheques are returned with the thrilling legend, "no funds," says Town Topics. Since Colonel Nicholas Fish married Peter Stuyvesant's daughter, no person by the name of Fish nor one of the descendants of Nicholas Fish has contracted a marriage with a Stuyvesant. Since then there have been Stuyvesant Fishes, Stuyvesant Morrises, Stuyvesant Howards and Stuyvesant Le Roys—all belong to this Fish family, but no Miss Stuyvesant could possibly be a first or fifth cousin of Stuyvesant or any other Fish, nor has any descendant of Nicholas William Stuyvesant married any descendant of Colonel Nicholas Fish. This fact should have been known in the office of every newspaper that at first gave a beautiful obituary notice to the suicide, to the great annoyance of members of the Fish family. And how about those whose visiting cards were found by the police in the woman's apartment?

Pretty Girl Wagers Herself on Outcome of Ball Game

PITTSBURG, Jan. 27.—James Coover, a Pittsburg baseball pitcher, did his best work when he pitched a hard game against poor support, and won not only the contest, but a bride.

Pretty Miss Mattie Best of Verona was in the grandstand, and, it is said, had laid a joking wager on the game. Coover knew, and, keyed up to his greatest speed, served his most perplexing curves. Miss Best was overjoyed.

Oakland's Playhouses

Miss Florence Rother as 'Lady Hawk' in 'Woodland' at the Macdonough

'WOODLAND' WINS HEARTY APPLAUSE

(By BETTY MARTIN.)

"It's a crackerjack, all right."

"You bet it is."

This was the passing comment made by two well-dressed, intelligent looking young men on their way out of the Macdonough Theater last night.

After all, it is the public which fills the houses and makes the play. And that accounts for the big and appreciative audience which filled the Macdonough Theater Sunday night.

"Woodland" is a most delightful musical fantasy. And, under Henry W. Savage's management, a delight to the eye as well as to the senses.

In Mary Quive, Mr. Savage presents a rarely magnetic star, whose very simplicity of manner exercises a charm over the audience. Her voice is full, rich and melodious, with a slight vibrate which detracts in a measure from the artistic effect.

Geo. W. Leslie, who personates Blue Jay, the tramp politician, has been here before; at one time being a member of D. T. Frawley's stock company. He is a well-known comedian and possesses the ability to make an audience smile—which—I believe, is the comedian's perogative.

IS VAIN ROOSTER.

Dwight Allen, apparently, has played the part of General Rooster so long that he has acquired that barn-fowl's chief character—vanity—and a desire to be the center of attraction. A most commendable trait in a polygamous rooster, but hardly desirable as an integral part of a musical comedy.

Judge Owl, known in private life as Henry A. Barrows, is the possessor of a good, resonant voice, barring his peculiar habit of an occasional nasal tone.

Possibly the very best of all the male voices is that of Harry Benham, the Robin, whose duet with the Dove was warmly encored, as well as the solo "When Duty Calls."

There are several other good voices in the cast, and where voice is lacking, the deficiency is supplied by acting ability and the power to please—an accomplishment of the young lady who represents The Wren.

It is perhaps unwise to discriminate among so many selections of merit. There is not a single dull moment in the whole of "Woodland." The scenic effects are fascinating, the music both excelent and catchy, the chorus young and shapely. As well, "Woodland" is not without it's lessor. The Hawk and the Nightingale are pitted one against the other, and it is the song of the Nightengale which touches the heart.

Briefly, "Woodland" is ruled over by King Eagle, old, and rather doddery. He has a son, Prince Eagle, in whose favor the father proposes to abdicate. To assist the son with advice, a "lyre" bird, which turns out to be the Blue Jay, and a "liar," is made counselor. King Eagle selects a wife for his offspring, in the shape of Lady Hawk. Prince Eagle refuses her hand, saying that he loves the Nightingale. Banishment from Woodland follows. King Eagle dies, the Blue Jay usurpes the throne, and intrigue it at its height when Prince Eagle returns, the insurrectionist having been put down by Robin and his army.

"Woodland" will be given tonight, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings.

ROAD SHOW'S HIT

Thousands Turned Away at Orpheum---Performance Scores Hit.

At least 3000 people were turned away from the Oakland Orpheum last night and yesterday afternoon when the famous Orpheum Road Show began its engagement at the Twelfth street theater. The management had prepared to wage war against ticket speculators, who were planning to reap a harvest from the demand for tickets during the Road Show's engagement. Their attempt to do ticket scalping was rejoiced so far as the management was able to prevent it.

The Road Show proved to be all that had been claimed for it by the Orpheum management. A more brilliant collection of vaudeville acts could not possibly have been gathered together. Martin Beck's selection of acts suited Oakland people thoroughly.

George Ade's "Marse Covington," as played by George Connelly and Company, was an artistic treat for all who enjoy fine acting and who appreciate the work of a good dramatist. It was his first time in Oakland, but hereafter he will be sure to receive the welcome Oaklanders always give a great actor. Connelly played the part of a broken-down Southern gentleman in "Marse Covington," whose appearance at the doors of a gambling house, where he vainly sought entrance, resulted in a scene, which for dramatic power and pathos rarely is equaled in any drama, even on the modern stage.

It was notable that not a single woman appeared in the cast of this sketch; there was no suggestion of the usual theme of love and marriage, or any of the bits that are supposed to represent feminine taste; but despite the lack of common-place ideas there was intense interest displayed by the audience in the little drama.

MANY NOVELTIES.

Except for this act of Edward Connelly's the Orpheum Road Show is made up entirely of European novelties. Rosina Cassell's Mexican dogs, tiny animals, all immensely clever, and all trained by Madame Cassell to do a series of feats, were one of the big hits. They came on the stage in an automobile, frisked about like toy terriers, and then went through a series of acts, showing their training and intelligence, which ordinarily is not supposed to be possessed by the Chihuahua canines.

A beautiful act was that of La Gardenia, the Spanish dancer. La Gardenia was brought from Spain to America by Mr. Beck to take a part in the Orpheum Road Show. She deserved the place of honor she has on the program. With a beautiful stage setting and five Spanish troubadours to tinkle sweet music on their mandolins, she danced in delightful fashion; while the crowd thundered its approval and gave many a "bravo" for the danseuse.

Coram, the English ventriloquist, supplied an act very different from that of the dancer. He had English comedy to offer, and the brand proved to be acceptable to American audiences yesterday. With his funny figure "Jerry," he made sport for the multitudes and there was tremendous applause when he concluded his act.

Two New York comedians, Kelly and Kent, scored a great success, one as a Bowery girl and the other as a New York youth. They had a merry melange of songs, dances, and odd bits of character acting, all highly acceptable.

TOM JACK TRIO.

From Europe there came the Tom Jack Trio, two women and a man, all skilful performers on a variety of musical instruments.

The show was opened by Keno and D'Arville, two acrobatic performers, who had a medley of acrobatic dances and spirited comedy to offer as their contribution.

An extra attraction that delighted the audience when the program indicated its presence, was that of Gus Edwards' School Boys and Girls. These nine rollicking lads and lassies had sung and danced themselves into great favor last week and the generosity of the Orpheum in adding them to the Road Show program was thoroughly appreciated. The School Boys and Girls were as big a hit yesterday as during their appearance last week, and made as great a hit as any on the Road Show roster, Herman Tunberg being especially popular. One of Gus Edwards' famous songs, "On the Old See Saw," was introduced by the School Boys and Girls with splendid effect. The lads and lassies perched in swings on the stage, swung as they sang and gave a very realistic exhibition of youngsters at play.

SHERIFF BARTNET HAD TO DODGE TO HOLD PRISONER

WRITS BLOCKED HIS EVERY TURN

Returns From East With Young Negress, Wanted Here for Theft.

Three writs of habeas corpus had to be overcome or dodged by Sheriff Barnet before he could start safely back from Kansas to Oakland with Bessie Brown, a negress who is wanted here for the alleged picking of the pocket of W. Moore and breaking probation. She is now in the County Jail, however.

Bessie Brown cried so hard when she was in court last March that she was placed on probation. She promised that she would be good, and as she is only fifteen years of age, she was given a chance to keep her promise. She was placed in the hands of the Salvation Army. For just one time, she carried a banner, and then she decamped. The next heard of her was that she had been arrested in Denver. Before extradition could be arranged for, however, she had been released.

DODGED WRITS.

A few weeks ago, Sheriff Barnet learned that she was in Kansas City, in jail. He telegraphed to hold her there until his arrival. She got out on a writ of habeas corpus, but was rearrested before Barnet got to Kansas City. When he got there, another writ was served on the Missouri sheriff, who was compelled to release her. Barnet then arrested her, and hearing that another writ was being prepared, rushed her across the State border into Kansas. He had already arranged extradition from that State, and lost no time in starting for California.

During his visit in Missouri, Barnet visited Springfield, the former home of Vernie Carmin, for whose murder Mark A. Wilkins is being tried. He secured there much information that is expected to be useful in prosecuting Wilkins.

THANKS SHERIFF.

Following is a self-explanatory letter:

To the Editor of THE TRIBUNE: We, the undersigned colored employes on train No. 3, Chicago to Oakland, beg a small space in your valuable paper to express to the people of your county, our appreciation of the kind, generous and humane treatment extended to a poor unfortunate colored girl prisoner, brought from Kansas City to Oakland by Sheriff Frank Barnet and wife.

BESSIE BROWN.

It is too often that the reverse is the case with our free people, and we cannot let this opportunity pass without expressing our thanks to the people of Alameda county. God bless the sheriff and his dear wife. We love them for their kindness and our prayers are for them.

(Signed) J. R. Trott, A. Ellison, H. B. Humphrey, L. E. Alexander, O. Washington, J. S. Johnson, William Norman, Henry Payne, Albert Madison, Sam. Corinth.

The sheriff was shown a copy of the above letter, which was received by THE TRIBUNE, and with reference to the same said that when he left Kansas City with his prisoner he instructed her as to what he expected of her, and how he wanted her to act, and that if she did so he would treat her the best he could.

The prisoner followed the instructions of the sheriff, and was placed in charge of Mrs. Barnet, and everything went well. The porters were very much pleased at the manner in which this coored prisoner was treated, and so expressed themseves to the sheriff.

"The grandeur o fthe country with reference to the scenic conditions were so beautified by the presence of ice and snow that they must be seen to be properly described and appreciated," said the sheriff. After all the sheriff believes there is no place like Oakland.

REV. DR. BROWN TALKS OF GRAFT

Tells His Congregation That Spirit of Corruption is a Great Menace.

Before a large gathering at the First Congregational Church last night Rev. Charles R. Brown delivered a stirring sermon on the great menace of modern life, "The Peril of Graft."

"The spirit of graft is the great moral menace," he said. The gambler at the race track shows graft in one form and the corporation manager desirous of securing special privileges which will put his competitors at a disadvantage in some illegal way has it in another form—there are differences of operation, but the same spirit. The clerk in some large concern who feels that he is not paid enough and so helps himself to additional salary out of the cash drawer is caught by it, and the dishonest business man who advertises one sort of goods and sells another has contracted the same disease—there are diversities of gifts in this business of grafting, but the same devil worketh all in all.

"The money stolen is the least of the evil done. It robs men of all moral efficiency. It debauches the public conscience. It lessens the confidence of the people in the integrity and utility of all forms of civic and commercial life.

DISCOURAGES HONEST EFFORT.

"Graft discourages honest effort, for the young man bent on rising by his own legitimate exertions is disheartened when he sees some fellow rapidly passing him on the latter of material advancement by methods which would not bear the light of day.

"When Achan was detected in grafting by Joshua the people took him into the valley of Achor and stoned him to death. It was the grim treatment accorded to that rude age to a crime, which, left unrebuked, eats the heart out of any people. I sometimes feel that we shall not make much moral progress until there is a return to something of the vigor and rigor of these Old Testament methods in dealing with rascality.

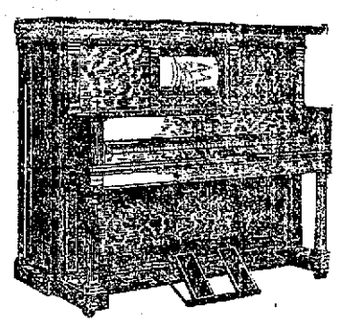

"Those early Israelites were plain, rough men like the pioneers of California who used to hang horse thieves and other scamps to the nearest sycamore. They were moral surgeons who cut away the social gangrene in fearless fashion, performing their operations sometimes in clumsy fashion like the vigilance committee in early days in San Francisco which hung scoundrels in order to save the life of this young State.

"CALL A SPADE A SPADE."

"They did not mince matters. It never occurred to them to use up half the alphabet in making polite references to 'kleptomania' or the 'misappropriation of funds.' They called stealing 'stealing' and lying 'lying,' and they dealt with it in that stern way which cleared the atmosphere and made moral progress possible. And we in this more refined age stand in need of the same downright insistence upon the punishment of all manner of crime, whether committed by men in shirt sleeves or in dress suits; and we shall only save our nation as every right-minded, honest-hearted man enlists in the fight against the whole spirit of graft."

WHERE ARE ESTUARY TUNNEL PLANS, ASK SUPERVISORS

Franchise for Spur Electric Track in Fruitvale Granted---Cancel Lien on Property.

At the meeting of the Board of Supervisors this morning, on motion of Supervisor Kelley, the clerk was instructed to ascertain what the general committee, comprising officials of Oakland, Alameda and Berkeley had done in the matter of the proposed tunnel under the estuary between Oakland and Alameda. The Supervisors have heard nothing of the matter for some time.

Two franchises were granted, one for the construction of an electric wire and the other for an electric spur railroad track in connection with the California Railway in Fruitvale. The former was granted to E. M. Downer. It was introduced by Sepervisor Rowe and permits the use of wires and conduits for the transmission of electricity for all purposes save thoge of telephones and telegraph.

The electric railway franchise authorizes the construction of a line from Fulton street in the vicinity of Lloyd avenue, across the right of way of the California Railway, thence to Washington avenue and the right of way of the Central Pacific Railway Company, thence through a private right of way to the right of way of the Southern Pacific Railroad Co.

The matter of burning old county election returns as required by law, the time for the preservation of the same having expired, was referred to the building committee. Heretofore, these returns have been burned by the heating apparatus in the basement of the hall of Records. At the present time, however, the heating apparatus consists of oil burners and these can not destroy the material on which the returns are printed.

Vice-President Kirk of Heald's Business College sent in a communication to the effect that that concern was ready to furnish clerical help of all kinds.

A communication from the Kiel & Evans Co., regarding the valuation of its property was filed.

CANCEL LIEN.

A resolution was adopted canceling the lien upon the property of Manuel F. Mathias, for alleged non-payment of poll tax, for the reason that Mathias has been dead seventeen years.

The communication of C. F. Salmonson, regarding the proposed purchase of two motorcycles, was filed.

Application for saloon licenses were referred to the license committee as follows: C. Tarre, Fruitvale; J. E. Nichols, 1236 Fruitvale avenue, and M. D. Silva, Elmhurst.

Antonio S. Calderia, Newark, was granted permission to sell liquor.

Supervisor Bridge was authorized to repair and place in good order the road leading from San Lorenzo Junction to the County Infirmary road.

Requisitions for supplies for the law library, the receiving hospital, county clerk, sheriff, assessor, district attorney, tax-collector, auditor and stockkeeper of the Hall of Records were allowed, Supervisor Rowe voting in the negative on several of the requests.

For Sale--At a Bargain--One of the Quaintest Little Bungalows in Alameda County.

"Isn't it the dearest little place you ever saw?" said the wife of the writer when we went through it yesterday.

It's almost like a doll house and yet when you've seen the five cozy, cheerful, sunny little rooms, the Alpine tiled bathroom, the welcome reception hall and the generous pantry and pass closet and the laundry you marvel that so much real room can be condensed into such a tiny little dove cote."

And that is just about the whole story.

You see, it's this way: A clever little woman planned this house, a little woman who knows home comforts, who dont believe in making housework a drudgery, who figured out way to save steps.

And this is what she accomplished:

The prettiest little beamed ceiled, weathered oak dining room your mind can imagine, with paneled sides and plate racks and stein shelves and book cases and china cabinets—all, mind you, planned by a woman who knows art in architecture and comfort when she sees it.

Then there is the great log-burning, clinker brick fireplace that just seems to say, "Come in and get warm and listen to the story."

Even the chandeliers are clever in their originality — even the front door, with its unique "peddler's trap," is original. Brass strap hinges, capped doors, dainty little "peek-a-boo" windows and all such things add cleverness to comfort and make it, in all its splendidly thought-out completeness, an ideally beautiful little home for a young couple.

Of course, you will find flour bins and shelves and drawers galore. A spotless enameled sink, an air-cooled provision pantry, a fine big laundry right off the kitchen, a coal bin for two sacks of coal, a bathroom big enough for morning exercises that just glistens with cleanliness and all such conveniences.

A Great Physiologist

Once Said the Way to Keep the Stomach Healthy Is To Exercise It.

But He Did Not Tell How to Make It Healthy.

The muscles of the body can be developed by exercise until their strength has increased manifold, and a proper amount of training each day will accomplish this result, but it is somewhat doubtful whether you can increase the digestive powers of the stomach by eating indigestible food in order to force it to work.

Nature has furnished us all with a perfect set of organs, and if they are not abused they will attend to the business required of them. They need no abnormal strength.

There is a limit to the weight a man can lift, and there is also a limit to what the stomach can do.

The cause of dyspepsia, indigestion and many affiliated diseases is that the stomach has been exercised too much and it is tired or worn out. Not exercise but rest is what it needs.

To take something into the stomach that will relieve it from its work for a short time—something to digest the food—will give it a rest and allow it time to regain its strength.

The proper aid to the digestive organs is Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which cure dyspepsia, indigestion, gas on the stomach and bowels, heartburn, palpitation of the heart, and all stomach diseases.

Rest and invigoration is what the stomach gets when you use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, for one grain of the active principle in them is sufficient to digest 3000 grains of food.

The Tablets increase the flow of gastric juice, and prevent fermentation, acidity and sour eruptions.

Do not attempt to starve out dyspepsia. You need all your strength.

The common sense method is to digest the food for the stomach and give it a rest.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do not make the cure, but enables the organs to throw off the unhealthy conditions.

Perfect digestion means perfect health, for under these conditions only do the different organs of the body work right and receive the building-up material found in pure blood.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is a natural remedy and is a specific for stomach troubles. The ablest physicians prescribe them.

The Tablets are pleasant to the taste, and are composed of fruit and vegetable extracts, golden seal and pepsin.

TAFT FAVORS FREE SUGAR AND TOBACCO FROM MANILA

Secretary Suggests Several Reform Laws, Based on Recent Study of Conditions in Philippines.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27. — Secretary of War Taft has sent to Congress through the President a report of what the United States has done in its nine years' occupation of the Philippines, and adds some forecasts on the work done.

The President declares that ruin would have followed the adoption of any other policy toward the Philippines than that outlined by William McKinley and carried forward through these nine years, and asserts triumphantly that there is no brighter page in history than that dealing with the relations between the strong and the weak in those islands.

He adds that the Filipinos "have yet a long way to travel before they will be fit for complete self-government."

REVIEWS TRIP.

In his report Secretary Taft reviews his journeys from the time he left Seattle, September 13 last, until he returned via the transsiberian railway, reaching New York December 20, having spent the period between October 15 and November 9 in the Philippine islands. He says:

"Shortly stated, the national policy is to govern the Philippine Islands for the benefit and welfare and uplifting of the people of the islands, and gradually to extend to them, as they shall show themselves fit to exercise it, a greater and greater measure of poular self-government.

"This is important, in view of the claim made by certain Filipino advocates of immediate independence that a satisfactory independent Philippine government could be established under a governing class of ten per cent and a serving and obedient class of ninety per cent.

SCHOOLS INCREASING.

"Peace prevails throughout the islands today in a greater degree than ever in the history of the islands, either under Spanish or American rule, and agriculture is nowhere now impeded by the fear on the part of the farmer of the incursion of predatory bands.

"The total number of schools in operation during the past year was: Primary schools, 3485; intermediate schools, 162; arts and trades schools, 32; agricultural schools, 5; domestic-science schools, 17, and provincial high schools, 36, making a total of 3687, and an increase from the previous year as follows: 327 primary schools, 70 intermediate schools, 15 arts and trades schools, 3 agricultural schools and 9 domestic-science schools. In addition to 717 American teachers, there are what are known as Filipino insular teachers, numbering 455, and 5656 municipal Filipino teachers, all of whom speak and teach English.

"The death rate among American soldiers in the Philippines for the last years was 8.5 per thousand, and the previous year 8.75. The death rate among American civilians in Manila for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1907, was 5.59 per thousand, a reduction from the previous year. The death rate among Filipinos this year in Manila was 36.9 per thousand, and among Spaniards 15. 84, both reductions from the previous year.

"The death rate of Americans of the same social condition is not greater than in the cities of the Southern States.

"New waterworks are in the process of building at a cost to the City of Manila of about two millions of dollars. It will probably be ready for use by July of 1908.

BUSINESS DEPRESSION.

"Of course, the depression in certain business branches of agriculture, like sugar, tobacco and rice, due to lack of markets for the first two, and to a lack of draft animals in the production of sugar and rice, has had a direct effect upon the business of the islands of a depressing character. Gradually, however, business has grown better. The exports are higher than ever in the history of the islands, the balance of trade in their favor for the last fiscal year being about five millions, exclusive of gold and silver and government and railway free entries.

"So confident am I that the development, which the sugar and tobacco interests of the United States fear in the Philippines from an admission of those products free to the United States, will not inure to the injury of those interests that I would not object to a limitation on the amount of sugar and tobacco in its various forms, manufactured and unmanufactured, which may be admitted to the United States from the Philippines, the limitation being such a reasonable amount as would admittedly not affect the price of either commodity in the United States.

CAPITAL NEEDED.

"One of the crying needs of the Philippines is capital. The usurious interests which has been paid by the farmers is so high as to leave very little for his profit and maintenance and ever since we entered the islands the cry for an agricultural bank which would lend money for a reasonable interest, say ten per cent, has been urged upon the Commission.

"There has been a good deal of prospecting in the islands, finding gold and copper; but great complaint is properly made of the limitations upon the mining law, which prevents the location by one person of more than one claim on a lode or vein.

"It is proposed by some to put in force the coastwise trading laws in respect to the navigation between the United States and the islands. I think this a very short-sighted policy. Today the trade between the United States and the islands, export and import, is about seventeen per cent of the total. There is grave doubt whether there are enough United States vessels to carry on this trade as it is, and even if there were they could not carry on the trade without a very great increase in freight rates over what they now are.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

"I therefore recommend:

"First—That legislation be adopted by Congress admitting the products of the Philippine Islands to the markets of the United States, with such reasonable limitations as may remove fear of interference with the tobacco and sugar interests in the United States.

"Second—That the present restrictions be removed as to the acquisition of mining claims and the holding of lands by corporations in the Philippines;

"Third—That further legislation be passed authorizing the Philippine government, if it chooses, to open and conduct an agricultural bank, with a capital not exceeding $2,000,000; and

"Fourth—That the coastwise laws of the United States be made permanently applicable to the trade between the ports of the islands and the ports of the United States."

THINKS COURTS INJURE CHILDREN

Probation Officer Says Hereafter They Must Report at Special Officers.

Probation Officer Christopher Ruess announces the completion of arrangements by which school children on probation shall report, not at the court house, but at local probation offices in Oakland, Alameda, and Berekley.

The probation officer and the school authorities believe it better for the children not to get on too familiar terms with the seat of the higher courts through such frequent visits. Ruess holds that the probation work with children is more nearly allied to the educational than to the criminal branch of government, and is cultivating closer alliance with the public schools.

After February 1 the probation officer will be on hand at the Central Evening High school rooms at Twelfth and Grove streets, in Oakland, every Saturday morning from 8:30 till 10 o'clock. The Berkeley office hours will be from 4 to 8 o'clock every second and fourth Monday at the former office of the superintendent of schools, 2131 Allston Way, near Shattuck avenue. In Alameda the hours for some time have been from 4 to 8 o'clock every first and third Monday at the Porter school on Alameda avenue, near Oak street.

Plans for the building will be presented at a celebration of the Chinese new year in the Twenty-third street branch of the Young Men's Christian Association.

WON'T PAY FARES; 2 RIOTS FOLLOW

Three Italians Refuse to Give Up Nickels; Knock Down Inspector.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27.—Two street car riots occurred last night as the result of Frank Veirano, Louis Caboni and Joseph Carbuno refusing to pay their fares on a San Mateo electric car. Shots were fired and a riot call was sent to police headquarters before order was restored.

The men said they had paid their fare, which the conductor denied. Inspector Robert Lofton compelled them to leave the car at Mission street and Onondago avenue. Then they tried the next car. Lofton ordered them off this and the fight began. Loften was knocked down. Hoodlums with stones joined in the affair and several passengers were hurt. A number of platform men saw the fight and came running to the scene. They drew revolvers and the crowd dispersed.

At this time another car came along and the railroad men stopped it, proposing to take Lofton to a hospital in it. They ordered the passengers out. A well-dressed woman refused to move, saying she had paid her fare. Other passengers said the same, and when an attempt was made to clear the car the railroad employes were met with resistance that started another fight. Carmen, passengers and hoodlums all joined in and kept things lively until the arrival of the police.

JEALOUS NEGRO CAUSE OF A TRIPLE TRAGEDY

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27.—Learning that his former sweetheart, Rodie Gordan, a dissolute woman, in company with James Grant, a negro, had gone to a lodging house at 520 Pacific street, Joseph Jackson, colored, followed the pair and in less than five minutes after his arrival a triple tragedy had resulted.

Telling the manager of the house, William Perrin, that the pair were friends of his, Jackson climbed the narrow stairway and went directly to their room.

He broke the transom glass with the butt of his revolver and commanded the woman to open the door.

Once entrance to the room had been gained, Jackson commenced his deadly work. The Gordan woman fell to the floor with a bullet through her body, and Grant dropped on the bed, shot through the heart.

When the police arrived they found the three dead bodies and summoned the morgue wagon.

NATIVES OF INDIA MAY FIGHT BRITISH YOKE

NEW YORK, Jan 27.—That the natives of India are preparing to shake off the British yoke is the opinion of Captain William Rhodo of the German steamship Neidelfale, just in from the Orient. The captain says that throughout the East the natives are getting over the idea that the white man is the logical master, and are preparing to declare themselves. The 200,000,000 natives of India, he believes, are preparing to stike a blow for freedom and he expects it to come soon. The success of Japan in the war with Russia he believes to have much to do with the changed conditions in the Far East.

ROBBERS DIVIDE LOOT BEFORE VICTIM'S EYES

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27.—Carson Alfred was held up at Pacific and Sansome streets at 2 o'clock this morning by six men, who, after surrounding him, made him give over his valuables, and deliberately proceeded to divide them among themselves before letting their victim depart. Alfred, who is a watchman for Front street, ... NN was on his way home when the men, who had been following him, came up and formed a ring around him. They displayed no weapons, but made threatening gestures and forced him to give over $15 in gold, two gold rings, and a watch and chain, the latter valued at $50.

Alfred reported the matter to Policeman Cameron, but the hold-ups had escaped and could not be located.

People will repent if it hurts them enough not to.

You can generally tell a widow by the way she seems to be so innocent about men.

S.S.S. FOR RHEUMATISM

Rheumatism is caused by an excess of uric acid in the blood, brought about by the accumulation in the system of refuse matter which the natural avenues of bodily waste have failed to carry off. This waste or refuse matter ferments and sours and generates uric acid which is absorbed into the blood and distributed to all parts of the body, and Rheumatism, with its torturing pains and aches, inflammation and other disagreeable symptoms, gets possession of the system. The aches and pains may be relieved and the inflammation temporarily reduced by the application of a good plaster, penetrating liniment or some other simple home remedy, but the disease can never be cured while the blood remains saturated with the irritating, pain-producing uric acid poison. The cause should be driven from the blood before the trouble reaches the chronic or helpless stage. S. S. S., a purely vegetable remedy, cures Rheumatism by thoroughly cleansing the blood of every particle of the uric acid poison, and making this vital fluid pure, fresh and health-sustaining. It filters out from the circulation the remotest particle of the poison, and when S. S. S. has renovated the blood, Rheumatism is thoroughly and permanently cured. SULLIVAN-JACKSON CONTEST AT MARYSVILLE TOMORROW

How Jackson Lost Decision to Win Fifty-Cent Bet With Manager---Neil-Attell Betting Not Very Brisk.

BY EDDIE SMITH.

Word has come from Marysville, where Dick Sullivan of San Francisco and Young Peter Jackson of any place, are to meet; that the men are in excellent condition for their battle and that the event will draw the largest crowd that has ever visited a night contest in that city.

Billy Burke of Philadelphia was to meet Sullivan, but owing to an injury to his shoulder he was compelled to give way to the colored fighter. Jackson was in Sacramento where a short time previous he had bested Tommy Reilly. The Sacramento people were about to match the negro again and he was in light training for the proposed match.

When the offer to take Burke's place came Jackson stepped onto the train and landed in Marysville in fair shape for the contest. He has also had a week for active training and should be able to give a good account of himself. Sullivan and Jackson should enter the ring weighing about 160 pounds and the battle will act as a try-out for Sullivan.

Dick has been trying to get started with the top-noteners of his weight division for a long time but has had some trouble in making the promoters feel that he is a strong enough drawing card. His hands win over the much touted Kyle Whitney boosted his stock considerably, but the fans demanded something else before accepting him as a championship candidate.

If Sullivan disposes of Jackson, however, the people who follow the boxing game will be compelled to admit he is a fighter to be reckoned with and a fit candidate for a championship match. Sullivan has had a world of experience in the boxing game, but most of his contests have been fought in Honolulu and China. He also fought a few fights at Manila.

Jackson first broke into the fighting game in Colorado, way back in 1895. Coming to California a little later he had one of his first starts in the game at Marysville, when he knocked Jim Crowley out in five rounds. This was in 1898 and Peter at that time was considered only a fair tramp fighter—one who was willing to fight any one at any place and for anything he could get.

A few years later, after he had won several contests in San Francisco and Oakland, he was matched to fight Philadelphia Jack O'Brien and the contest was considered a gift to the clever Quaker. O'Brien had learned the fine art of making money early in the game, however, and when he found himself a lopsided favorite in the betting he wagered a good wad on Jackson and laid down to him.

This faking of O'Brien was the making of Peter, for he went East soon after and made considerable money, the majority of which has slipped away easier than it was made.

The last time that Jackson appeared here he lost a contest on a foul to a man that he had not only won from, but had chased around the ring as if the contest was a foot race. The losing was a peculiar circumstance and around it hangs a good tale of the ring.

It appears that Al Herford, who at that time was managing Jackson and Gans, had bet several hundred dollars that Jackson would win inside of fifteen rounds, which as the contest was held in Oakland, was the limit of the bout.

Well, Morgan Williams, who was his opponent, had earned considerable reputation as a runner while training in Alameda by racing the train several times, but he never ran as fast as he did the night of the contest. The moment that Jackson put his black face between the ropes, Mr. Williams turned pale. Williams ran and Jackson ran after him. That was the record of the contest up to the fifteenth round.

The crowd was disgusted and howled its disapproval, but Williams believed in the old adage, that he who runs away will live to fight another day, and refused to stand still. During the rest between rounds fourteen and fifteen Herford bet Jackson fifty cents that he could not put the white boy out that round and so anxious to win that bet was the colored chap that he went after Williams with renewed energy.

After the contest had gone about a minute Jackson cornered the white man and shot over a swing to the head which felled the racing Mr. Williams. Jackson was so anxious to win that he hit the white man while he was down and although every one hated to see him lose there was nothing to do but declare him the loser, as he had, with a foul punch, knocked the white man so groggy that he had a hard time getting to his feet.

Peter has often told the story and has always used it as proof that it does not pay for a fighter to bet on himself, for to win a fifty cent bet he lost the long end of a purse.

EDWARDS AND FRAYNE.

Frankie Edwards and Johnni eFrayne are matched to meet at Redding some time this month. Edwards and Frayne have met twice before in the four round game and each time they put up an even article of fistcuffs that was delightful to look at.

Both boys are clever but lack the necessary knockout punch. In a twenty round contest, however, it is expected that one or the other will win with a fair margin of points.

NEIL-ATTELL BETTING.

The betting on the Attell-Neil contest is not very brisk as there is a great shortage of Neil money. Tom Corbett who is handling commissions on the contest announced last night that he had all sorts of Attell money to bet at any price that he could get.

The betting men seem to have settled down to betting on Neil's chances of staying twenty rounds with the clever Hebrew and the great majority of the betting will be done along these lines.

Had Neil went the limit with Moran it would have been hard to find anyone who would bet that Attell would put him away, but now that Frankie has been put away many are of the opinion that it will not be such a hard thing to repeat the performance.

McGRATH, MANAGING KID.

Timothy McGrath, the manager and trainer of boxers both big and little, and at present manager of Jim Flynn, has taken a lightweight under his managerial wing and has announced that he is ready to match him with the best and toughest boys in the business.

Tom Carroll is the fighter's name and, while he is not so well known in San Francisco as he is well known throughout the interior of the State where he has met all the men that could be produced for him, and has come back to San Francisco with a good record of victories. Kid Scaler and Carroll are to meet in three weeks if Scaler wins from Johnnie Murphy.

TERRY MARTIN COMING.

Terry Martin, an Eastern welterweight of noted ability, has written Billy Roache the local referee, that he will soon be in San Francisco and has asked the Bowery boy to look out for a match for him.

Martin is one of the best of the Philadelphia welterweights and has done some good work, he was recently beaten by Billy Papke who, he declares, is the greatest fighter of his weight living and the champion of champions in his class.

Martin beat Harry Lewis lately and is considered improving. He has been fighting since 1903, but has never had a real good chance to show what he has in him owing to poor management.

University Men Settle Question

The intercollegiate committee of the Universities of Stanford and California met last Saturday night and settled a few points which one or other of the colleges wanted changed. The California representatives were Everett J. Brown, Paul Yost and O. F. Snediger, while Stanford was represented by R. W. Barrett, James F. Lanagan and Guy Knupp.

The Stanford delegates presented a motion that the number of competitors in each event in the intercollegiate track meet be limited to five for each college. California wanted to retain the present rule which allows an unlimited number to compete, but finally compromised on seven men to each university.

It was agreed that the third game of the baseball series, which is played when each college wins a game, shall in future be held on one of the campus diamonds instead of on neutral ground as formerly. The first time that the third game is found necessary is will be held on the University of California ground, and the third games will alternate on the two grounds, irrespective of what year they are played. It was also decided to add a freshman baseball contest to the annual list of events and the first game will be played in the spring of next year.

Several other suggestions of changes were lost, among them being Stanford's proposition making a student from another university eligible to compete if he had been one year out of that college, which would do away with the present rule which requires his attendance at his new school one year before competing.

A proposition to make the date of the freshman football game a week later than at present was also lost.

Will Play for Billiard Title

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—George Sutton of Chicago, and Ora Morningstar of New York, will meet here tonight in a game for the championship at 18.2 balkline billiards. Sutton became champion at the game in 1905, when he defeated George F. Slosson, who won the international championship match in the spring of that year. Since then Sutton has successfully defended the title against Jacob Schaeffer, Willie Hoppe and Morningstar, the latter match taking place in Chicago a year ago, when Sutton won by the narrow margin of 28 points. Willie Hoppe has issued a challenge to the winner of tonight's match, who will have to play the boy within sixty days. Hoppe has also challenged Schaeffer for the trophy representing the championship at 18.1 balkline.

HOW BOOZE GOT JOCKEY GROVER CLEVELAND FULLER

Still Light Enough to Do 106 Without Reducing---The Noted Rider Is Out of the Game for Good.

(By HUGH E. KEOUGH (HEK.)

CHICAGO, Ill., Jan. 27. — If one is interested in the vital question as to what becomes of our great jockeys when they have become too large or too strong for the saddle he can pause in contemplation of Grover Cleveland Fuller, still young, still strong, and still light enough to do 106 without reducing. Fuller is out of the game to stay. The reason? Well, first a broken leg which refused to preserve its alignment when it knit; second, an overwhelming thirst; and, third, the meddlesome proponsity of racing stewards.

In concentrated brilliance Fuller's career possibly was the most remarkable in turf history. To say that his career was meteoric is to discount the speed of the meteor. Everybody who goes racing is familiar with his start and his finish is of too recent history to even warrant a suggestion. The space in between is merely a spasm.

Fuller is naturally bright. A fair sort of an education was forced on him before he hit the trail of least resistance which led to the racetracks. The discovery of his ability as a race rider purely was an accident. He was kicked from one stable to another. There was no place for him to go but home when Archie Zimmer, in sheer desperation, took him up. Zimmer gave him a chance to distinguish himself, and he did it— in the brief space of a week. Jack Keene, who had kicked him out, tried to establish a claim on him, but Zimmer protected his right to the boy's services and took him east, where he became attached to the stable of Congressman T. D. Sullivan, Zimmer's patron. Fuller's fame had preceded him and his services were eagerly sought. He rode himself into popularity before the season had fairly started.

The unquenchable thirst was still upon him, however, and all the protection that was thrown about him could not prevent him from breaking out. Fuller never could be brought to realize that drink could possibly interfere with his work, and he prided himself on his ability to hit it up all night and ride winners the next day. He used to plead with his keepers that unless he got out and raised a certain amount of Cain he would be a dead one when he put the colors on, and as his own dope seemed to work he was humored to a certain etxent.

Tim Sullivan, however, had set notions about the vanity of tippling and insisted that his jockey cut it out entirely. After having exhausted all his powers of persuasion he resolved to adopt heroic measures. Perhaps it is better from this on to allow Fuller to tell it himself as he told it the other day.

"Tim put me up against the cure," said Fuller. "I didn't need that, because I thought I could quit any time I took a notion, but I fell for it just because he wanted me to, him being the best fellow in the world and a good friend of mine. Well, we are staying at the same hotel, Tim and me, and one day he pulls out his automobile and asks me to go to the track with him. About half way to the ferry we stops at a place that I never seen before and Tim asks me to get out. He talked with a fellow with whiskers and I heard him ask how much it would be and I heard the fellow answer two hundred bucks. Tim hands over the money, and when we are ready to go away he says to me: 'Not you, kid; you stay here.'

"Then he puts me wise to the game and I fall. Tim called in on me the next day to see how I was getting along. I tried to go out with him, but he gave me a push in the face and told me to go back. Well, those does pushed a lot of that foot wash into me and I didn't notice any difference. When Tim calls on me a couple of days after I says to him: 'This is the bunk, but I'll stick if you say so,' and and he says so,' and he says 'stick.'

"Tim in there about a week and along comes the Saratoga meeting. I asked the guy what I would do for the daily treatment when I got up there, and he tells me that would be all right, as he had a branch office there. Sure enough he had, but he must have opened it for my benefit, as I didn't see anybody going against it but me. I had grown used to riding two or three winners a day around New York, but it took me seven days to get one over at Saratoga. I was absolutely rotten. One day I gets desperate and sneaks around the corner and tells the bar boy to freeze me a quart. I takes that and another and goes out to the track with a pretty fair souse and rides four winners, and I kept up my average until the end of the meeting both at the track and the booze joint."

"Don't you think," I asked, "that you would have lasted longer if you had stuid up there where Tim put you?"

"There's nothing to that," said Fuller reflectively; "bub what's the use of talking about that now?"

Hundreds Visit Fighters' Camps

Yesterday was a busy day at the camps of Frankie Neil and Abe Attell, and the "standing room only" sign was soon in evidence at both places. Attell did his work in Sam Berger's new gymnasium on Steiner street, near Ellis, and the little room was packed to suffocation to see the wizard of the featherweights go through his daily stunts. But Frankie Neil wasn't neglected, by any means, as several hundred people went across the bay to watch the rejuvenated youngster stack up against Kid Scaler and Johnny Jones. Many of the race-track sports were in evidence at Shannon's and the line of chaff that old man Neil gushed forth was enough to keep them in good humor all afternoon. If one were to believe all that "Pap" Neil says is going to happer, Abe's wife will have to leave an order for the doctor to call around and restore Abe's physog to some resemblance to its former shape. However Neil certainly never looked better and he is as fast as a bullet. He made Scaler hustle to avoid punishment and it is a shame the way he hammered poor Johnny Jones. Attell will surely know that he is in a fight before next Friday's contest has gone many rounds.

Attell, however, isn't allowing any grass to grow underneath his feet. He was out bright and early on the park roads and his speed was clearly proven by the manner in which he waltzed around the ring with his brother Monte, who makes an excellent sparring partner for the champion. It was clean-cut, scientific work of the championship order. The sports who watched him box marveled at his skill and remarkable speed.

The betting is still two to one, but since the glowing reports from Neil's camp have been received in the betting quarters, there is an undercurrent of public opinion that is sure to make the odds shift a point or two.

The sports can figure on seeing two of the hardest fought scraps ever held in San Francisco when Kid Scaler and Johnny Murphy, and the two featherweights look-up at Dreamland Friday night. The former will be between two well-trained, aggressive boxers who are anxious to climb to the top of the lightweight division, and neither knows what the word backing-up means. The main event will be between a pair of top-notchers who dislike each other so much that it borders more on the grudge than a boxing match. It is this sort of mix-ups that the fans like to watch and a big crowd may be looked for by the new promoters, who are doing everything in their power to make their debut a most auspicious and successful one.

State League Holds Meeting

The annual meeting of the California State Baseball League was held yesterday at the St. Francis and the business for the year was completed, with the exception of the arrangement of the schedule, which is in the hands of a committee.

Frank Herman was re-elected president of the league, H. R. Bradford of Santa Cruz, vice-president, and Cy Moreing of Stockton, secretary and treasurer.

The applications of Fresno and Santa Cruz for franchises were favorably considered and these clubs were admitted to the league. This will give the league a six-club circuit with San Francisco, Oakland, Alameda, Stockton, Sacramento, San Jose and Santa Cruz.

It was decided to open the season on March 28th, and play until the second week of November. Santa Cruz will have baseball six days a week from the beginning of June to the middle of September, the other towns having baseball on Saturdays and Sundays only.

The Spalding ball was adopted as the official ball for the league.

Lawson Wins Bicycle Race

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 27.—Sprinting with all the energy he could command and exerting every muscle to defeat his opponent, who appeared equally confident of victory, Iver Lawson of the Yankee team, in a remarkable burst of speed, last night won the six-day bicycle race from Joe Fogler by so short a distance that it was almost impossible to pick the winner.

The world's record for forty-eight hours, held by Elkes and McFarland, made in 1900 in Marison Square Garden, was broken. With but a few minutes until the end of the race left, all the teams but the two leaders were withdrawn, and Iver Lawson and Joe Fogler went in for a real riding duel.

Around the track they went and at the end of the mile were absolutely so close together that it was almost impossible to decide which one had won. The referee finally decided in favor of Lawson.

Oakl'd Hornets	12	2	9	1	8	24	5

*Two points deducted for playing an ineligible man.

The Albion Rovers had a narrow escape from defeat at Freeman's Park yesterday, when they hooked up with the Oakland Hornets. The latter team was leading with one goal to o up to within a short time before call of play, but the defense of the Hornets went to pieces and the Rovers sent in three goals.

The first half was well contested, though unproductive of any goals, and the Albions lost many opportunities when well placed. Petrie in particular was the faulty forward, as he preferred to give a grandstand exhibition of dribbling rather than "go for goal."

The second half was only five minutes old when Edwards secured the ball in midfield, passed his opposing half and the two backs and placed the ball where it counted, Marra having no chance to save the shot. The Albions made desperate efforts to get on level terms and were not very particular in their methods, and Referee Robinson had to caution three of them for foul tactics.

Ten minutes from the finish Pike received the ball from the right wing and put in a low, fast shot through a crowd of players, and the scores were equal. Then Balmain converted a center of Milne's and Pike put matters beyond doubt by adding No. 3 for his side. The winners were best represented by Cockburn, Donohue and McKiernon, while Edwards, Sharp and the three defense men were the best of the Hornets. The teams lined up as follows:

Rovers.	Position.	Hornets.
Marra	Goal	McRitchie
McLaughlin	Left back	Wasber
Anderson	Right back	Lynch
McIntyre	Left half	Massey
Cockburn	Center half	Duncan
McKiernon	Right half	Cullen
Balmain	Outside left	Askham
Pike	Inside left	Edwards
Petrie	Center forward	Ayres
Donohue	Inside right	Williams
Milne	Outside right	Sharp

Interesting Notes About Racing Matter

A New York dispatch says that word has been received in New York of the first colt in America by Rocksand, the $125,000 stallion imported by August Belmont. The foal was born at Belmont's stud farm in Kentucky, its dam being the Rayon d'Or mare Fetish. As the first son of the famous winner of the two thousand guineas, the Derby and the St. Leger stakes in England in 1903, the foal will be viewed with interest, but to this it adds a strain of blood that has become prominent recently on the turf, Fetish being of the same origin, tracing the female line, as Colin, champion of the turf last summer and winner of $130,000 in purses.

Burns Will Fight Negro, Says Wife

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 27.—Mrs. Tommy Burns, wife of the champion pugilist, who arrived in New York yesterday from London, wired friends here that Tommy would fight Jack Johnson as soon as he returns to America, and she declared that her fighting husband would make the negro pugilist jump out of the ring.

"He would never fight Johnson if I had the chance to decide it," she said, "for I don't like him to fight with colored men, and he promised me when we were married he would never fight a negro. But he's sore over what has been printed about him and Johnson, and I'm positive he will sign up for the battle just as soon as he gets in America and leave the explanations with me until later."

Test of time and ten years on Market street speaks for itself.

Master mind of Clairvoyants
A True Seer
For honest dealings his reputation shines like a bright meteor—a guiding light to all who seek reliable advice. If you want to know the outcome of any proposition consult Delno. If you have consulted those who are less competent you have made a mistake, but this you can rectify by calling on Delno, who will tell you how you will succeed.
He has been a native of California for the last eighteen years and is legally ordained to one of the oldest spiritualist societies in the world.

Delno

will help you to obtain your greatest wish in health, wealth and happiness; removes evil influences, bad spells. A call may result in your fortune and future happiness.
He teaches his profession (27 clairvoyants practicing today through his development). Call and find out
How can I have good luck?
How can I succeed?
How can I make my home happy?
How can I conquer my enemies?
How can I marry the one I choose?
How can I marry well?
How soon can I marry?
How can I conquer my rival?
How can I make anyone love me?
Hoy soon will my lover propose?
How can I get a letter?
How can I get a good position?
How can I remove bad influences?
How can I control anyone?
How make distant ones think of me?
How can I settle my quarrels?
How can I hold my husband's love?
How can I keep my wife's love?
Delno never asks questions.

Master Adept.
My practice and professional reputation are built upon "honor," reasonable charges, fair dealings, faithful service and speedy success for my clients have won for me the largest practice in the State of California. My superior knowlegde and power give me advantages which warrant me in guaranteeing safer, surer and more rapid results than can be obtained elsewhere.

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Alameda, do ordain as follows:

That whereas on the 21st day of October, A. D. 1907, E. M DOWNER filed with the Board of Supervisors of the County of Alameda, an application in writing for the franchise hereinafter set set forth, and

Whereas, said Board of Supervisors did, by resolution duly passed and adopted, at a meeting of said Board of Supervisors, held on the 9th day of December, A. D. 1907, resolve to grant said franchise for said term of fifty (50) years upon the terms and conditions and restrictions imposed and required by law and by said resolution so passed as aforesaid, said Board of Supervisors further resolved that sealed bids for said franchise be received by said Board of Supervisors and filed with the County Clerk of said County of Alameda, and ex-officio Clerk of said Board of Supervisors, up to the hour of ten o'clock a. m. on Monday, the 20th day of January, 1908, and that said bids be opened at said last mentioned time and date and that said franchise be thereupon struck off, sold and awarded to the person, firm or corporation making the highest cash bid, therefor, in the manner provided by law, and at said meeting said Board of Supervisors did, by resolution, prescribe and fix the sum of One Thousand Dollars ($1000) to be the penal sum or amount of the bond required by law, to be filed by the successful bidder for said franchise; and

Whereas, said Board of Supervisors did, by the aforesaid resolution, authorize and direct the County Clerk of said County of Alameda and ex-officio Clerk of said Board of Supervisors, and on behalf of said Board of Supervisors to advertise, in the manner and for the period required by law, statements of all of the aforesaid facts and matters, together with statements of all other facts and matters in connection with the granting of said franchise as required by law, to be advertised and published; and

Whereas, it appears to this Board of Supervisors, by the affidavits of publication on file herein and otherwise, that in pursuance of said order of said Board of Supervisors that said County Clerk and ex-officio Clerk of said Board of Supervisors did, as required by law, advertise and publish statements of all of the aforesaid facts and matters, together with statements of all other facts and matters in connection with the granting of said franchise, as required by law, in a daily newspaper of said County of Alameda, of general circulation, once a day for ten successive days, which publication was completed not less than twenty (20) days nor more than thirty (30) days before any further action on said franchise was taken by said Board of Supervisors; and

Whereas, thereafter such action was taken by said Board of Supervisors upon said application of said E. M. Downer, in accordance with the law in such case made and provided, that on the 20th day of January, 1908, after due notice given as provided by law in every particular as above set forth said franchise was, by resolution by said Board of Supervisors, duly passes and adopted at a meeting of said Board of Supervisors duly held on said 20th day of January, 1908, duly struck off, sold and awarded by said Board of Supervisors to said E. M. Downer, as the highest bidder therefor, for the sum of One Hundred Dollars ($100) in United States gold coin; and

Whereas, said E. M. Downer deposited with the County Clerk of said County of Alameda and ex-officio Clerk of said Board of Supervisors, in the manner and in the time required by law, the full amount of said bid of One Hundred Dollars ($100) in gold coin of the United State; and

Whereas, said E. M. Downer did, within five days after said franchise was so awarded to him, as aforesaid, file with said Board of Supervisors a bond running to said County of Alameda in the penal sum of One Thousand Dollars ($1000) being the amount heretofore fixed by said Board of Supervisors as the penal sum of such bond, which said bond was a good and sufficient bond and was in all respects as required by law and was thereon and heretofore and is hereby duly approved by said Board of Supervisors:

Now, therefore, the Board of Supervisors of the County of Alameda do ordain as follows:

Section 1. The right, franchise, privilege and permission is hereby granted unto E. M. Downer, his successors, heirs and assigns, to erect, construct, maintain and operate over, along, across and upon the county roads, highways, public ways, streets, lanes and public grounds and places of and in said Alameda county, State of California, all piers, masts, poles and other superstructures upon or from which to suspend, affix and hang wires, cables or other appliances for transmitting electricity and to lay, maintain and operate wires, cables and other appliances for transmitting and conducting electricity under, over, across and along said county roads, highways, public ways, streets, lanes and public grounds and places of and in said Alameda county, California, in conduits or other modes as may be convenient and proper for conducting and transmitting electricity for all purposes for which the same may be used.

Section 2. Said E. M. Downer, his successors, heirs and assigns, is hereby granted the above mentioned right, franchise, privilege and permission hereinbefore designated for the term of fifty years from and after the date when this ordinance takes effect.

Section 3. Work must be commenced in good faith under said franchise within four months from the date of taking effect of this ordinance and the same must be completed within three years thereafter, and if not so completed within said time, said franchise, right privilege and permission, so granted, shall be forfeited, unless, for good cause shown, the time shall be extended in accordance with law.

Section 4. Said E. M. Downer, his successors, heirs or assigns must, during the life of the franchise hereby granted, pay to the county of Alameda two per cent (2%) of the gross anual receipts arising from the use, operation and possession of said franchise hereby granted. No percentage shall be paid for the first five years succeeding the date of the franchise, but thereafter such percentage shall be payable annually and in the event said payment is not made, said franchise shall be forfeited.

Section 5. All piers, masts, poles and other superstructures shall be so erected, constructed and maintained as not to in any way whatsoever interfere with the usual and customary trade, traffic and travel of said county roads, highways, public ways, streets, lanes and public grounds and places.

Section 6. All wires, cables and other conductors of electric current suspended upon or from such piers, poles, masts or other superstructures shall be placed and maintained at such a height above the surface of the ground as not to endanger or interfere with customary and usual trade, traffic and travel on any of said county roads, highways, public ways, streets, lanes and public grounds and places.

Section 7. In case wires, cables or other conductors of electric current shall be placed and maintained under ground, the same shall be so placed and maintained under such reasonable and proper regulations as the board of supervisors of said county of Alameda shall adopt so as not to endanger life or property nor interfere with the usual and customary trade, traffic and travel of any of said county roads, highways, public ways, streets, lanes and public grounds and places.

Section 8. All piers, masts, poles and other superstructures shall be so erected, constructed and maintained as not to interrupt or interfere with any piers, masts, poles or other superstructures now erected and maintained by other persons, firms or corporations under authority of law.

Section 9. Said grantee and his successors and assigns shall at all times keep and maintain such piers, masts, poles and other superstructures and all wires, cables and other conductors of electric current erected, operated and maintained by it in good order and condition so that the same shall not menace or endanger the lives or property of persons passing along and over said county roads, highways, public-ways, streets, lanes and public grounds and places.

Section 10. The franchise, right, privilege and permission hereby and herein granted is not an exclusive franchise and right, and the right of said Alameda county to grant like franchises, rights, privileges and permissions, is hereby reserved; provided that such grants shall not interfere with the reasonable use of the franchise, right, privilege and permission hereby and herein granted.

Section 11. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force fifteen (15) days after its passage upon the publication thereof in accordance with law being made before the expiration of said fifteen (15) days.

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—A sluggish movement of prices was in evidence at the opening of the stock market, which was mostly downward, although there were a few small gains. Transactions generally were small, but the first sale of United States Steel was 7000 shares at a decline of ⅜.

The tone of the market underwent an immediate change after the opening, the distribution of moderate purchasing orders for the northwestern railroads and a few of the specialties causing a general sharp advance.

Reading, St. Paul and American Smelting were the most heavily bought and reflected the greatest strength. St. Paul and American Tobacco preferred gained 2, Delaware and Hudson 1¾, and American Smelting 1⅝ and Reading and Northwestern 1½.

The market broadened materially and prices were lifted comprehensively. Delaware and Hudson rose 2⅜, Reading 2¼, American Smelting 3¼, Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha preferred 3, and Great Northern preferred, Northern Pacific and American Sugar preferred 2, Amalgamated Copper ¾, New York Central, Canadian Pacific, Union Pacific and United States Steel preferred 1¼ to 1½, and many other stocks one or more.

Bonds were strong.

There was less activity in the market, but prices held firm and several stocks went slightly higher. Reading and American Tobacco preferred showed gains of 3 points and Canadian Pacific 2½. Colorado and Southern second preferred lost 1½.

Profit taking began in Reading after it had touched 104, and when the price reacted about a point the rest of the list also sold off a fraction. Trading was much restricted during the afternoon, with long intervals of dullness. United Railway and Investment preferred rose 5 and American Smelters' Securities preferred B 2¾.

The market closed heavy. There was extensive profit taking in the final hour which caused a reaction in Reading of 2¾, American Smelting 1⅞, Northern Pacific 1¾, Union Pacific 1½ and numerous active stocks a point or more. The pressure to realize abated and allowed some slight rally.

POLICEMAN TOO QUICK FOR THUGS

Takes Them Into Camp in Time to Prevent Bold Robbery.

(Special to The Tribune.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27.—Two desperate thugs, believed by the police to be ex-convicts, and thought to be responsible for the numerous holdups in the Mission district during the past few weeks, were captured at 4:30 this morning while they were in the act of peering into the Richelieu Saloon with the evident purpose of holding up the place.

Policeman MacDonald of the Southern station, was attracted to the men by seeing one of them glance hurriedly up and down the street, while the other peered through the partly open door of the saloon. Cautiously the officer approached, and observing that one of the men had a black jack tied to his right arm, he decided to take no chances. With drawn revolver he approached and ordered both to throw up their hands. The smaller of the pair had a revolver up his sleeve and attempted to pull it on the officer, but MacDonald was too quick for him.

"Pull that weapon down another inch," said the policeman, "and I'll blow your head off."

He then succeeded in getting possession of the gun and black jack, and, handcuffing the men together, took them to the patrol box.

take 4 gets

Within the saloon, entirely unconscious of all that was going on, was the bartender counting the day's receipts, amounting to upwards of $100, and several customers.

While on their way to the station, one of the men succeeded in tearing up a letter which he had on his person, and which it is believed would have tended to incriminate him. When booked at the city prison the pair gave their names as Frank Melville and Francis Murphy.

FIREMAN KILLED; OTHERS INJURED

Fire in Chicago Causes One Death and Big Loss of Property.

CHICAGO, Jan. 27. — One fireman is supposed to have been killed, a number of others were injured and property valued at half a million dollars was destroyed in a fire which devastated the Mayer building, a seven story brick building and the Hotel Florence at 163-167 Adams street early this morning. The fire broke out in the basement of the Mayer building and spread so rapidly that when the first detachment of firemen arrived, the entire building was in flames. A strong north wind swept the flames to the adjacent hotel building and in a few minutes that structure also was a roaring furnace. The walls of both structures collapsed about an hour later carrying with them an entire company of firemen. All except one, James Gallagher, of truck company No. 1, were rescued. His body is believed to be in the ruins.

MAJ. PICKETT CAN SEE NO REASON FOR RETIREMENT

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27 — Referring to a dispatch from Washington, stating that he was to go before a retiring board, Major George E. Pickett, said today in an interview:

"This is like a thunderbolt from a clear sky. I successfully passed the army riding test some months ago and thoroughly approve of mounted officers being so tested. I am one of the President's strongest personal admirers in the army. I am in splendid physical condition and am actively engaged in charge of the office of Chief Paymaster of the United States Army. The reported order, therefore, is a surprise and I think there has been some mistake."

WRECKS HOUSE, THINKING SWEETHEART IMPRISONED

Love-Sick Swain, Who Hadn't Slept for a Week, Badly Beaten by the Besieged.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 27.—Frank Larson, a young Swede, believing that his sweetheart was imprisoned inside, for almost an hour early today besieged the home of J. W. Somerville, 4530 South Figueroe street, where he kicked in a large plate glass window in the parlor, entered the house and after a desperate fight with the butts of revolvers, was beaten almost in unconsciousness by Somerville and his son, who finally subdued him and turned him over to the police.

Larson's sweetheart was not in the house. The Somervilles deny that they know her. A brother of Larson says that he kept company with a young woman for some time, who later jilted him for young Somerville, and that as a result Larson has not slept for a week. Larson is in the Receiving Hospital suffering from many cuts about the head from the blows with revolvers. The Somervilles did not know who Larson was, and believed that his repeated demands to see his sweetheart was a ruse to gain entrance to the house for the purpose of robbery or that the man was intoxicated or insane. Furniture and windows in the Somerville home were smashed in the encounter.

PLUNGER ACCUSES TURFMEN OF DOUBLE-CROSSING HIM

Something of a sensation, growing out of the Deutschland-Billy Pullman-Marc Antony race on Saturday, was sprung yesterday when Emil Herz, the noted plunger and one time owner of Montgomery, openly charged Trainer James Blute and Owner R. F. Carman of being guilty of double-crossing him.

According to the story related by Herz, Blute told the former Saturday that Marc Antony was a good thing and on the strength of the information Herz bet $1800 on the Carman horse. Later Herz says he discovered Carman's agents in the ring betting on Deutschland, the sums ranging from $6000 to $8000, according to the plunger. The alleged action on the part of Carman and his agents so incensed Herz that he threatened to lay the matter before the judges. Herz' friends intervened and advised him to drop the matter.

Friends of Carman and Blute denied the charges made by Herz and in defense of the southern horseman declare that Carman advised Herz to bet on Rifleman in the Burns and Baron Esher in the fifth race.

Whatever money was bet by the Carman agents went in on Marc Antony, the state, and not on Deutschland as charged by Herz. Something in the way of official investigation is liable to grow out of it all.

MRS. TALBOT FIGHTS TO PROVE SHE WAS NOT DRUNK

Five Witnesses Swear Millionaire's Wife Was Always Sober When in Their Presence.

(Special to The Tribune.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27.—The alleged intoxication of Mrs. Annie D. Talbot, the tale of which was forced from the lips of her husband, William H. Talbot, by Attorney Shortridge, representing the defendant, while the millionaire lumber dealer was on the stand in Judge Seawell's court some time ago, is the one phase of the case which Mrs. Talbot's attorneys are making every effort to disprove, and all the evidence so far brought forward by them has tended toward that end.

Five witnesses were called during the morning session today, each of whom testified that they had not seen the defendant under the influence of liquor at any time, and one of whom stated that he believed she was a good mother.

Dr. Wilbur M. Swett, an oculist and physician, with offices in the Claus Spreckels building, testified to having treated Vera Talbot in 1901 and 1902. He said Mrs. Talbot had frequently called at his office, and that she had always been free from the influence of intoxicants during these visits. Dr. Walter M. Barrett of Redwood City testified to having treated Mrs. Talbot in 1907, following a runaway accident in which she was injured. He later attended Mr. Talbot for an injury of the arm after the earthquake. He had never seen the defendant in other than a perfectly sober condition.

Miss Ethel Kelting, a school teacher of Redwood, said that she had been engaged to teach the children in 1902 and had continued doing so for one year, while the family were at Redwood and after they moved to this city. She had never seen Mrs. Talbot under the influence of liquor. She admitted that during that entire period she had only seen the defendant five or six times.

Dr. Charles Henry Bell and Miss Gabriel Roger both testified in the same strain, the latter, who is a shool teacher, stating that as far as she knew Mrs. Talbot was a good mother to her children, and was always interested in their studies.

Douglas Talbot, a son of Mrs. Talbot by her first marriage, was called to the stand shortly before the noon recess was taken

DECIDES AGAINST UNIONS IN A RAILROAD CASE

Supreme Court of the United States Rules That Companies Have Right of Discharge.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—The constitutionality of the act of Congress of June 1, 1898, prohibiting railroad companies engaged in interstate commerce from discriminating against members of labor organizations, in the matter of employment, was called into question by the case of William Adair vs. The United States, which was decided by the Supreme Court of the United States today favorable to Adair. The opinion was by Justice Harlan and held the law to be repugnant to the constitution.

The court held that Adair, as master mechanic of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company, had a right to discharge an employe who was a member of a labor organization, just as it was the employe's right to quit such employment because of his membership in such organization. Such a course, the decision added, might be unwise, but, regarded as a mere matter of right, there could be no doubt. Congress could not under the constitution authorize a violation of contracts under the guise of protecting interstate commerce.

Justice McKenna delivered a dissenting opinion favorable to the law in which he said the court's decision is along very narrow lines.

TAKES STRYCHNINE; DIES IN AGONY IN THE STREET

Tragic End of Aged Remittance Man

Louis F. Husson of 616 Twelfth street, who had lived for years on remittances sent him from England, took strychnine in his rooms this morning and then walked out into the streets to die. He expired at 5 o'clock this morning in agony at Seventh and Washington streets, and the body was taken to the morgue where an inquest will be held.

"I have taken strychnine and want to die," said Husson to Thomas Arnold at Seventh and Washington streets. In a few moments he fell in convulsions on the sidewalk and a moment later his wish was gratified.

Arnold said that he was walking along Washington street, when Husson, apparently ill and much excited, stopped him and told him of having taken the poison. He gave no reason for his rash act other than to say that he was tired of life. It is said that he was a heavy drinker and was presumably mentally deranged at the time he took the deadly drug. Before Arnold could determine what to do or before he had time to give the alarm, Husson had collapsed and expired at his feet.

Husson, who was about 50 years of age and unmarried, so far as can be determined, was the owner of a small piece of property at San Rafael. He had a bank book in his possession which shows a balance of about $300 in the Security Bank & Trust Company, Eleventh street and Broadway. Nothing is known of his relations, but an investigation is under way.

WOMAN DESERTS SPOUSE; SAYS "TOWN TOO SLOW"

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 27.—Is the demand of a wife that her husband leave a small town and provide her a home in a large city a reasonable request? This question must be decided by the Hennepin county district court in the divorce suit of Harry Harris, 32 years old, against Ella Harris, 23.

In a complaint filed yesterday Harris asserts that he and his wife were living in Sedalia, Mo., when his wife left him. Later she wrote a letter saying she would return to him if he would secure employment and provide her a home in either Chicago or St. Louis. Otherwise, she said, she would not return. Harris did not comply with his wife's request, and he asserts that she never returned to Sedalia.

FEARED SHE WOULD BE ACCUSED OF MURDER

Wife Ousts Her Husband From Home, Believing He Would End Life There.

Preferring separation from the man who had threatened suicide, to a possibility of being the cause of his death, Jennie Antonuccio last night ordered her husband, Frank Antonuccio, from their home, 633 Chestnut street, and insists that she will no longer live with him. This morning Mrs. Antonuccio, a dark-eyed, well-attired woman of the Latin race, appeared at police headquarters to notify Chief Wilson that should her husband meet with tragic death, it would be the result of suicide and no blame should attach to her. She said she was not on the best of terms with her husband's parents and was not sure but what she might be blamed if anything happened to him.

WILL NOT WORK.

"I married Frank Antonuccio four years and a half ago and in all that time we have had more or less trouble," said Mrs Antonuccio this morning at police headquarters. "He has never been able to make sufficient money to even pay the rent, and although he is a plumber by trade, he is out of work most of the time. He has sold our furniture to live on and we have been obliged to live with my mother at 633 Chestnut street. A few days he went to Sacramento in search of work, but came back Saturday night. Yesterday afternoon he took our three-year-old son and went to Fruitvale to attend the wedding of his sister, Josie Antonuccio. When he came back in the evening he was crying, saying that his father had treated him unkindly, telling him that he never wanted to see him again.

ATTEMPTS SUICIDE.

"A little while later he took a bottle of iodine from the closet shelf, and after telling me that he did not wish to live any longer he tried to swallow the poison. Myself, my sister and my mother took the poison away from him after a struggle and I then ordered him to leave. I am fearful that if he should die in our home, I would be blamed for his death.

"Because of this I ordered him away from the house. He said that he wanted to stay just one night, but I was afraid he wanted to stay there to kill himself, so I made him go. At about 12 o'clock last night he came to the house again and tried to get me to let him in, but I would not do it, as I still felt that he wanted to get into the house only to kill himself. I don't know where he is now. If he wanted to live with me he should have behaved himself. I can't afford to have him kill himself in our home and then be blamed for his death."

VALLEJO, Jan 27.—Nicholas Fitzpatrick, who had held a clerical position in the Mare Island Navy Yard since the Cleveland administration, died suddenly today of heart disease.

ONE MORE TONG VICTIM IS DEAD

Bing Kong Man Succumbs to Wounds—Local Tong Men Declare a Truce.

Fong Him of the Bing Kong Tong who alleged that he was shot down by Lom Loon of the Hop Sing Tong during the recent outbreak of the warring tongs, died yesterday in San Francisco. In a dying statement taken by Assistant District Attorney Thos. Kennedy of San Francisco, Fong Him accused Lom Loon of the shooting and Chief of Police Biggy has detailed several extra detectives to capture Lom Loon and to prevent, if possible, additional murders.

To account for the unusual quiet in Oakland's Chinatown at present it is reported today from good authority that a two weeks' truce had been agreed upon between the fighting men of the Hop Sing and Bing Kong tongs. All those who know, however, believe that trouble will start as soon as this truce is over.

Suit for divorce on the ground of cruelty was also brought by Amos Wagner against Irene Wagner.

TWO DAYS' CLEAN UP

On Monday and Tuesday Kohler and Chase Will Sell Off at Half Value Twenty-Four Used and Odd Style New Pianos Which Were Not Ready for Last Week's Sale.

These Twenty-Four Pianos Will Be Placed on Sale Monday Morning at 10 A. M.—Easy Payments if You Like.

The List Includes Several Standard Makes, as Good as New, Taken in Exchange on Pianola Pianos and Weber Pianos Friday and Saturday.

A number of good standard pianos were taken in exchange on Friday and Saturday from people who purchased Weber and Kohler & Chase pianos and Pianola pianos. These instruments couldn't be overhauled immediately as our large force of mechanics was busy polishing and tuning pianos for immediate delivery. They are practically new and don't require much adjusting, so all will be placed in shape for selling by tomorrow at 10 o'clock.

Besides these we have a little more than a dozen odd and discontinued styles remaining over after our great Clearance Sale—and these have been further marked down for this two-days clean up.

Although there are twenty-four bargains, on any one of which the saving would educate your daughter or son in music. On these pianos you make your saving on the spot; you take it home with you; it's yours. Never before have such pianos—many of them endorsed and used by the world's greatest artists—been offered at such prices.

The big Kohler & Chase store, corner Sutter and Franklin streets, one block above Van Ness, is the Piano Shopping Center of New San Francisco. Piano buyers who appreciate quality first of all, who appreciate the satisfaction assured by an ironclad guarantee, and who want the lowest possible price for good pianos and player pianos—the great majority of purchasers, in other words—come to Kohler & Chase and buy satisfaction.

Here are the best makes in the world to choose from: The wonderful Pianola Pianos, the standard player pianos of the world, for which we have the sole agency; the incomparable Weber, the Steck, the Kohler & Chase, the Fischer, the Waeelock, the Stuyvesant, the Kohler & Campbell, the Hoffman, and others whose names and repuations are familiar to all who know pianos.

THE TWENTY-FOUR BARGAINS.

There's a reason for the sacrifice on these 24 bargains mentioned above—every inch of floor space is needed for our 1908 stock now arriving daily. We will lose money on every one of these pianos—each cost us more than we offer it at— but the space is needed badly and we prefer to clean up even at a sacrifice. The price gives you no idea of the quality of the piano—you must see them to appreciate just how good are the bargains we are offering for Monday and Tuesday.

Every child should have a musical education and should begin lessons at an early age. Music comes much easier to the young—everyone knows that children learn quickly, and it's as true of music as it is of arithmetic.

Dorothy Dainty Gets a Piano.

It is a duty mothers and fathers owe their children to give them advantages in education which will make them socially and mentally attractive. Don't deny your children the advantages enjoyed by others—it isn't fair to them; and now that a good piano may be secured for a little down and a little each month there is no reason why every family in ordinary circumstances can't give the children a musical education. Let them start now—there's no time to begin like the present.

Each piano is marked in plain figures—the little green tags are our silent salesmen—they are convincing — each with a "Must Go" price. Monday and Tuesday only, and remember the place.
